FRANCE WILL REMAIN FIRM ON INDEMNITY

WILL NOT BACK UP ON COURSE NOW LAID OUT

Premier Says Economic Penalties Will Prove Effective
WARNING SOUNDED
Stand Taken That Path Will Be Open For War Of Revenge

Paris, March 12.—If the Germans formulate new indemnity proposals we shall meet them with the same firmness that was displayed at London," declared Premier Aristide Briand today. "We are resolved not to recede from the line we have chosen."

Replying to criticism that the military and economic penalties against Germany will prove ineffective the premier said:

"They will soon show their efficiency."

The results of the London conference were discussed at a cabinet meeting this morning when the premier made a report to his colleagues. The ministers also considered the reply which will be made to the government interpellations in the chamber of deputies early next week.

The debate in the chamber is expected to lead to a confidence vote on Thursday. Members of the ministry believe that the government will be an overwhelming majority in view of the turn the indemnity situation has taken. The outcome of the London conference is accepted as a big victory for France and for the French policy toward Germany.

The importance of separating the Rhineland from Germany and the linking it closer to France, economically is emphasized in dispatches to the Matin and Echo De Paris today.

Amount Estimated.

Stephen Lauzanne, editor of the Matin pointed out that the amount gained from the seizure of German customs houses and the establishment of a customs frontier along the Rhine will not exceed 50,000,000 gold marks ($12,500,000) annually. He suggests that the allies extend their sanctions or penalties to include seizure of the coal mines in the Ruhr basin and the great Rhineland forests which are the property of the German government.

M. Lauzanne estimated, that not only would the new duties increase the French customs levy to five hundred million gold marks annually, but said that "the moral effect of separating Germany from her richest province would be enormous."

On the other hand Gustave Herve, writing in La Victoire warns the annexationists against the success of their scheme, declaring it would give Germany a legitimate right to wage a future war of revenge. He pointed to the case of Alsace-Lorraine as an example.

Shipments of food from Germany into the occupied Rhineland will not feel the full force of the allied penalties but will be taxed only lightly, according to a Coblenz dispatch to the Echo De Paris. The allied authorities took this course to prevent an increase in the cost of living in the Rhineland. The allied program is expected to be fully arranged in four days. It is probable that the heavy tax imposed upon other German goods except food will have the effect of turning the people of the Rhineland from the German to French markets for their purchases.

GERMAN COURSE TO BE DECIDED BY THE CABINET

Debate Opens In The Reichstag Early Saturday

WILL STAND PAT Refuse Terms Until Allied Troops Are Withdrawn.

Berlin, March 12.—Debate on Germany's course at the London indemnity conference opened in the reichstag today. Dr. Trimborn, leader of the Centre party announced that he would present a resolution in the name of the coalition parties approving the rejection of the allies indemnity demands drawn up at Paris.

The coalition leaders maneuvered for a vote of confidence in the government. They were confident that the government would be supported by the majority socialist and the nationalist.

The Lokal Anzeiger was authoritative for the statement that all political parties except the independent socialists and communists have agreed that Germany shall not make any new step towards reopening indemnity negotiations so long as allied troops occupy Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort.

Position Strengthened.

The position of Dr. Walter Simons, foreign minister and head of the German delegation at London seemed to have been strengthened despite the attacks made against him particularly by the industrial magnate, Hugo Stinnes.

Before the reichstag assembled there was much comment in the lobby over the recalling of the German ambassadors at London, Paris and Brussels. At a meeting of the foreign relations committee, Dr. Simons had been asked why the ambassadors were called home, but he answered vaguely and gave no definite information.

It was reported in the reichstag lobby that the diplomats would not return to their posts until the allied troops were withdrawn from the towns they occupied in the Rhineland this week.

National interest centered upon today's session of the reichstag for the foreign minister was to announce the future German program relative to reparations and allied penalties.

There were early indications that the session would prove a stormy one.

TROTSKY NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH

RUSSIAN LEADER IS FIRED UPON WHILE IN TRAIN

London, March 12.—Leon Trotsky, bolshevik minister of war, had a narrow escape from death under shell fire from rebel guns near Petrograd, according to the following Central News dispatch from Helsingfors this afternoon.

"Trotsky has returned to Petrograd. The train which bore him had just cleared Oranienbaum when shells from the fortress of Kronstadt exploded behind it tearing up a long stretch of the line."

"According to the Finnish military frontier guards the fort at Krasnaya Gorka, on the Russian mainland near Kronstadt, is again in the hands of the anti-red rebels."

ARREST MURDERER SUSPECT IN WEST

NATION WIDE SEARCH ENDS IN LOS ANGELES AT LAST

Cleveland, March 12.—Indictments against suspects in connection with the murder of Wilfred C. Sly and George Fanner, on Dec. 1, are expected to be voted by the grand jury today, following receipt of word from Los Angeles of the arrest of a man there who has been the object of a nation wide search in connection with the crime.

The murders occurred when five auto bandits held up the two men, who were officials of the Fanner Manufacturing company and killed them when they attempted to protect the company's payroll.

SOVIET REGIME FACING THREE REVOLUTIONS

Serious Situation Now Menaces Future Of Russia

ALL DANGEROUS Factions Made Up Of Various Dissatisfied Elements.

Washington, March 12.—There are no less than three distinct and separate movements of sizeable proportions against the Lenin-Trotsky government in Russia according to official advices received here today. The revolt of Kronstadt, which has attracted perhaps more general attention than the others, is to many observers less significant and less dangerous to the soviet regime than the others.

The first Prasetorian guard which is now in control of Kronstadt is reported in these advices to be made up of disgruntled communists who would condemn Kerensky as readily as they would condemn Lenin and whose chief complaint seems to lie in their belief that the communists at Moscow are getting more than their share of the spoils of the government.

They are for the most part, sailors without family or responsibilities, ready to join in any movement which promises them a greater hand in the government.

Made Up Of Workmen

The revolutionary movements in Petrograd and Moscow are made up of workmen whose principal grievance is the alleged attempt on the part of the soviet authorities to break up the trade unions. There are other causes of dissatisfaction but the immediate reason for the outbreak is believed to have been the determination of the Moscow officials to abandon the policy of peaceful conversion by propaganda and employ military measures to break down unionism.

The demonstrations at Petrograd unlike those at Kronstadt were marked by parades in which women and children joined.

The Moscow and Petrograd revolutionaries are reported to have established communication by wireless with the Kronstadt factions, but the two movements were distinct in their inception and even now there is little evidence of consistent co-operation.

The third, and from many points of view, most serious movement against the power of Lenin and Trotsky, is the revolution among the peasants. This is believed to be most dangerous because it involves the greater part of the population of Russia and apparently is a general uprising which had no propaganda or organization behind it.

The food requisitioning decrees are said to have been the immediate cause of the peasant rebellion.

SINN FEINERS ARE KILLED IN CLASH

BRITISH SOLDIERS RETURN FIRE OF ATTACKING PARTIES.

London, March 12.—Seven Sinn Feiners were killed in county Leitrim Ireland, when a detachment of 30 British soldiers was attacked near Sellen Hill, said a Central News dispatch from Dublin today.

The troops were attacked from entrenchments erected as part of an ambush.

The soldiers returned the fire and a fierce battle blazed up.

NEAR EAST PEACE PLANS VIRTUALLY END IN FAILURE

Conference Collapses In London When Turks Balk.

London, March 12.—The near east conference which was called here to devise means of preventing warfare in the old Turkish empire virtually ended today in complete failure. This was the second great international conference to collapse in London during the present week the German indemnity discussions ending in disruption last Monday.

Both the Turks and the Greeks refused the settlement proposed by the allies although the Turkish delegates had originally announced their willingness to accept the allied proposal for the sending of commissions into Thrace and Smyrna to study the national preponderance as a basis for revising the treaty of Sevres.

OFFICIALLY SCORED.

Columbus, March 11—Allegations of improper conduct by an official of the Kent-Normal school are contained in affidavits filed with the house finance committee. As a result the committee, in the big appropriation measure which will be reported out Monday evening, withholds all appropriation from the school. Explanation was made that the committee does not believe any fund should go to the school until the accused official is dismissed.

PRESIDENT ISSUES APPEAL FOR AID TO STRICKEN CHINA

Washington, March 12.—President Harding today issued an appeal to the American people to continue their aid to famine stricken China.

"The American nation has never failed to demonstrate its friendship for the people of China," the president's appeal said, "and that friendship has always been reciprocated in a manner which I feel justified in the hope that in this hour of China's greatest distress our people will do everything in their power for its amelioration."

WASHINGTON TO MEDIATE; BOTH SIDES AGREE

Packers and Employes To Send Representatives East

CARRY OUT PLANS Walkout Referendum Program Going Forward As Planned.

Chicago, March 12.—President Harding's suggestion, offered through Secretary of Labor Davis, that the packers and their employes each send representatives to Washington to aid in an investigation of the packing house wage controversy has been agreed to by both sides it was unofficially but authoritatively learned today. Formal replies from both the packers and the unions are expected to be forwarded to the president today. No names of representatives has as yet been suggested.

Chicago, March 12.—Notwithstanding President Harding's plea that the dispute between meat packers and their employes be held in abeyance until the controversy of labor, both sides are proceeding today along lines of action already laid down.

At the headquarters of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America strike ballots, printed yesterday, were being mailed out to the 400 local unions throughout the United States. Taking of the strike ballot was authorized at a meeting in Omaha Thursday.

At the offices of the big packers here plans were going forward for putting into operation on Monday the reductions in wages and the changes in hours of labor that were announced last week. These changes will affect 200,000 workmen in all parts of the United States.

The strike ballot being sent out from Union headquarters asks:

"Do you favor and authorize a strike in the event that the government or our organization is unable to induce the packers to maintain the eight hour day in compliance with the agreement entered into with the United States department of labor?"

It is expected that the result of this referendum will be known by Wednesday of next week. Even conservative union leaders express the opinion that the verdict of the workers will sanction a strike.

SEIZE PHOTOGRAPHS AS NEW EVIDENCE

EXPECT DOCUMENTS WILL PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN DIVORCE.

New York, March 12.—Photographs and letters, which were seized by armed raiders at Mrs. James A. Stillman's summer camp near Ulman, Quebec, are expected to play an important part when the divorce suit of Mr. Stillman, multimillionaire president of the National City Bank, one of the biggest in America, comes to trial.

Details of the spectacular raid upon Mrs. Stillman's summer camp came to light today following the revelation that the banker had named a half breed Indian as co-respondent. This Indian who is described as a "beautiful specimen of manhood" was attached to the entourage of the Stillman summer camp as a guide.

Several shots were said to have been exchanged in the raid which took place, as nearly as the date can be fixed, early in June, 1919. No one was hurt however.

WATER RATES REDUCED

Marietta, O., March 12—Water rates in Marietta will be reduced approximately 25 per cent, effective April 1, municipal water works officials announced today. Savings to the consumers will be about $20,000 a year, with a minimum rate of $6 a year.

RUMORS OF WAR SAID TO BE FALSE

London, March 12.—The anti-bolshevik insurgents in the Petrograd district have attacked Petrohif and Serghievka and 8,000 soviet troops deserted to the rebels according to a Reuter dispatch from Reval today. The Daily Herald, organ of the British labor party, printed the following dispatch

RIDDLE ACCEPTS MANAGER'S JOB AT MIDDLETOWN

Will Leave Sometime In April For New Duties

PAYS $5,000 0 YEAR

City Manager Will Not Leave Xenia Until Work Is Completed.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle, has been elected first City Manager of Middletown, Ohio.

The election took place at the meeting of the Middletown city commission Friday night, and he was notified of his appointment to the position by Commissioner Seebald, by telephone Saturday morning.

The position carries a salary of $5,000 a year which is a trial salary for the new manager, the business men having fixed the minimum at $7,500 annually and the salary will be gradually increased to this amount, it is said.

Mr. Riddle will probably leave Xenia in thirty days to accept the position, although he will bring the question up to the city commission here before deciding upon a definite date for his departure.

"I will not leave Xenia until the Commissioners think that I will not be needed longer on the matter of finishing any of the work now pending," said Mr. Riddle Saturday.

"However, the paving work is concluded, and the new water works station will be put in operation within a few days, so that everything will be finished easily within thirty days. As the commission will not want to start any new work until the new manager is on the job, I will only be standing in the way if I remain longer than that."

It has been known here for some time that Mr. Riddle was a candidate for the position of City Manager of Middletown. That city has been operating under the commission plan of government for several years, with the different commissioners acting as the department and administrative heads. Recently the city voted to adopt the commission manager plan of government and place the administration under one head.

A flood of applications immediately greeted this announcement, and Mr. Riddle's election to the position is considered all the more an honor as he was chosen from a list of at least 45 candidates. This list was gradually eliminated to three, who were considered favorably for the position, the two besides Mr. Riddle, being Wilbur Cotton, manager of Ambridge, Pa., and E. V. Stockline, assistant city manager of Dayton. While he was being considered for the position of Manager of Middletown, Mr. Riddle also received the offer of the managership of Mansfield, Mass., and has since received practically an offer to go to Palm Beach, Fla. Palm Beach is the twin city of West Palm Beach which at present employs Mr. Riddle's twin brother, Karl Riddle as City Manager.

City Manager Riddle is a Kansan by birth, and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Riddle, who recently moved to St. Paul, Minn., from Abilene, Kansas and who are well known in this city. He

MAN IS CHARGED WITH GIRL'S DEATH

R. B. FOSTER IS BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY—ON BOND

Newark, O., March 12.—Raymond B. Foster, charged with the "unlawful killing" of Opal Sowards at Buckeye Lake, was bound over to the grand jury in $5,000 for manslaughter by Mayor White of Hebron yesterday. The evidence showed that Foster had taken the girl to his cottage at the lake, that he was the last person who saw her alive and that he found her body in the cottage. The evidence was deemed sufficient to hold Foster for a complete review of the case although the name of Lee Cunningham of Columbus, also was brought into the hearing.

STATE TROOPS ON GUARD FOLLOWING RACE RIOT WHICH SWEEP OVER CITY

Martial Law Has Not Been Declared Although Soldiers Are Co-Operating With Local Police To Meet Any Further Emergency

POLICEMAN SHOT BUT WILL RECOVER

Trouble Follows Attack On White Girl—Disorders Break Out in Yellow Springs Street District—Mayor Orders Business Houses Closed.

Springfield, O., March 12.—Quiet prevailed here this morning. Although indications of a threatened race riot, apparently have disappeared, local and state authorities are co-operating in the maintenance of precautions designed to meet promptly any emergency which might arise.

State troops on duty here are operating under the jurisdiction of the local civil authorities. Martial law has not been declared.

A call for state troops was made by local authorities when a negro shot Policeman Joseph Ryan here last night. The shooting, it is claimed, was due to strong race feeling which had been growing all week, following the action of an unknown negro who induced 11 year old Marge Ferneau to enter a vacant house where he assaulted her.

Although shot three times, Officer Ryan, who was taken to a hospital, is expected to recover.

Citizens poured into the downtown business section after the shooting which occurred in the Yellow Springs street district. Later, however, the white men dispersed peacefully and fears of the formation of a mob, bent on wreaking vengeance upon the negro population, were allayed for the time being.

Ryan, it is claimed, was shot by a negro who was being searched for fire arms. Race disorders followed in the Yellow Springs street negro district. Five negroes are said to have been shot: one man, Shirley Shaffer, being taken to the hospital.

In an effort to apprehend Officer Ryan's assailant, every available officer was detailed to service in the Yellow Springs street district.

Shots are said to have been exchanged between officers and negroes who stood behind trees and buildings, firing in the dark and making use of nearby street lights. It was reported that about 14 negroes were hit.

Caught scattering dynamite near the negro section, a white man was arrested.

Before the police broke up a large crowd of white men and boys in the downtown section, the crowd had threatened to storm the jail and city hall.

Soon after the trouble started, Mayor Westcott ordered poolrooms and soft drink places closed, directed citizens not to carry firearms and decreed that all business houses remain closed until 5 o'clock this evening.

In an effort to get out of harm's way, many negroes climbed up trees while others, it is said, left the city by interurban line, autos and on foot.

The machine gun companies have mounted machine guns around the county jail.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the large Saturday afternoon and night crowds from causing more trouble here today.

Quietude continued to prevail here at noon today.

The streets are being patrolled by city policemen, deputy sheriffs, special officers and Ohio national guardsmen. In addition to the machine guns stationed about the county jail, protecting 30 prisoners rounded up during last night's outbreaks, machine guns have been mounted at strategic points in different parts of Springfield. State troops, also, constitute a cordon around the jail. Other militiamen, with machine guns mounted on motor trucks, are patrolling the city.

Ohio National Guard officials said that if the situation does not grow worse, the city will not be placed under martial law.

A proclamation issued today by Mayor B. J. Westcott, reads:

"Following developments of Friday night, it has been deemed to be to the best interest of the citizens to call in the state troops and in order that their presence may be effective it is necessary that the city be placed under martial law, which has been requested. Col. H. B. Horner is in full command and any restrictive measures he may find it desirable to impose will please be observed. Your earnest co-operation is requested."

Cal. Horner issued an appeal to the citizens of Springfield to cooperate and avoid further trouble. He requested that all persons remain off the streets tonight and that they stay in their homes.

Officer Ryan was wounded in the abdomen, cheek and right thumb. Shaffer was hit in the thigh.

ALLIES GRATIFIED OVER THEIR SUCCESS

FRIENDLY FEELING MANIFEST IN OCCUPIED ZONES IS REPORT

French Military Headquarters, Neuvs, March 12.—Allied military leaders expressed gratification today over the success of their measures to force German obedience to the entire indemnity decisions.

There has been neither fighting nor friction with the townspeople of Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort, the three German cities that were occupied.

The workers are pursuing their uneventful routine which was not interrupted by the entrance of allied troops.

A delegation of union leaders called upon Gen. Gaucher, in Dusseldorf on Friday and assured him that the workers are not hostile towards the troops occupying that city. The unionists said that it is the chief desire of the workers to remain on good terms with the troops, knowing then that they would not be disturbed nor troubled.

This was good news to the French commander who feared that an attempt might be made to bring about a general strike to embarrass the allies.

from its Moscow correspondent dated Friday night:

"The present scare is part of a general scheme to delay trade agreements, influence President Harding and lay the basis for a general spring offensive. I left Petrograd on Feb. 28. Then all was quiet and there were no disorders. I have spoken to several travelers from Petrograd since and they have reported the city still quiet."

"The theatres in Moscow are open as usual. The communist congress is in session here."

TROOPS STAND GUARD—ADDITIONAL SOLDIERS ARE READY TO BE SENT TO TROUBLE CENTER.

Columbus, O., March 12.—That the situation at Springfield "is practically quiet" is the announcement made at the adjutant general's office at 7 o'clock this morning.

Two machine gun companies of Springfield, and the London and Marysville companies, Fourth Regiment, Ohio National Guard, are on active duty at Springfield co-operating with the officials there in an effort to prevent race rioting.

The other companies of the fourth regiment are being held at their home stations, ready for active service at Springfield, if needed. After issuing orders mobilizing the state troops, Adjutant General Florence went to Springfield to consult with municipal and county officials.

The state troops awaiting possible active service at Springfield are: Headquarters company, Fourth regiment, Columbus; Captain J. W. Rees, commander; Machine gun company, Zanesville; supply, Columbus; Captain I. L. Ewing, commander; sanitary detachment, Delaware; Major J. B. C. Eckstorm, Columbus, commander; Company A, Marietta; Company B, Columbus; Company D, Marion; Company E, Zanesville; Company G, Greenfield; Company H, New Lexington; Company L, Columbus; Company K, Delaware; Company L, Athens.

FIVE ARE KILLED

Oklahoma City, March 12.—Five persons are reported to have been burned to death in a fire which early today destroyed a building at Clinton, Okla.

RIDDLE ACCEPTS MANAGER'S JOB IN MIDDLETOWN

is a graduate of the University of Kansas, at Lawrence, in civil engineering and after leaving the University took a special course in municipal government.

His engineering work after leaving school consisted of seven months spent in the installation of an automatic block system for the Rock Island Railroad in Kansas, five months on the building of a water supply for Colorado Springs, Colorado; City Engineer for Abilene, Kansas for one year and engineer manager for the same city for eighteen months.

In 1915, Mr. Riddle became secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in Abilene, which position he held for six months, when he became secretary-manager of the Automobile Trade Association of Kansas. In 1916, Mr. Riddle and his brother formed a firm for private engineering business, performing engineering work on numerous paving, water works and sewer contracts. He also acted as construction engineer on several large contracts on the cost plus basis and on the building of Camp Funston, Kansas, he took a considerable part in the engineering work and was engaged to lay out Army City a new town site adjacent to Camp Funston.

Mr. Riddle came to Xenia as City Manager on January 1, 1918, at the time the commission-manager form of government assumed under after the passing of the old federal form. Since becoming manager of Abilene, in June 1913, he has made a particular study of municipal government. He is a charter member of the City Managers Association, and has attended all of the conventions of that organization except one, being a past vice president of the association and now on its executive board. He was also a member of the original constitution and by laws committee with Henry Waite, former Manager of Dayton.

Since coming to this city Mr. Riddle has been a leader in all of the steps that have marked this city as progressive since the new form of government came into effect. Under his regime, the old order has changed in practically every department. Among the accomplishments of his regime that stand out are the big paving program that has given this city many more miles of paved streets, the shaking up of the fire department force and the motorization of that department, the systemizing of the street cleaning department, the putting into operation of the sewage disposal plant and its care, the operation of a city farm, the purchase of the water works and the construction of a new plant about to be started, the motorization of the police department, the remodeling of the Opera House, the extension and improvement of the street lighting service, and other projects of lesser importance.

Mr. Riddle will probably not hand in his resignation here until a regular meeting of the commission.

BEAVERCREEK BOYS BOUNCE OSBORN OFF FURNISHING SURPRISE OF ANTIOCH MEET

Beavercreek High school boys team furnished the most excitement of the Friday rounds of the seventh annual county basketball tournament at Antioch College by eliminating Osborn, rated as cup contenders, by an 18-16 score in the game played at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

The contest proved to be the surprise party of the opening rounds of the tournament. Osborn was rated as one of the strongest quintets in the big meet, and was booked to come through with colors flying until some of the harder games towards the close of the meet at least. The Beavercreek outfit showed rare form and the game was easily the most thrilling of the opening rounds. Osborn started off in the lead, but after the first few minutes the contest was a nip and tuck affair, with the Beaver lads showing a little better form.

The only other boys game of the opening rounds ran true to form, with Yellow Springs defeating Ross High 28-5, thereby eliminating that combination. The girls games provided interesting. In the opening game of the tournament, Cedarville High girls eliminated the Yellow Springs girls 11-5. In the second girls game of the afternoon, Jamestown was easily eliminated by the Ross High girls 24-7 and the Cedarville High girls playing their second game defeated the Beavercreek High girls 57-3.

The refereeing at the games with Sedden and Charles handling the whistles in the boys' games and Miss Olive Huston of Ohio Wesleyan in the girls' games, is unusually good. Hughes and H. Corry are keeping time, and the scorers are Ferdinand, Bales and Niswonger.

Arthur Bales, special representative of this paper at the tournament writes: "Beavercreek showed good form in defeating Osborn. Xenia will have a stiff game with Jamestown, but should have no trouble in defeating winner of Bellbrook-Beavercreek game. Yellow Springs should have easy game with Ross, also with Caesar Creek and winner of the Cedarville-Bowersville game, but will have to play one more game than Xenia. Yellow Springs and Xenia should hook up in final game about evenly matched. Cedarville girls and Ross girls should come through to finals evenly matched."

Saturday night following the championship games, there will be a picked team composed of the game between Antioch college and High School coaches who are at the tournament. The coaches team will be composed of Roger Collins, of Cedarville, William Collins of Ross, Charles Vannorsdall of Bellbrook, Alfred Ogan of Jamestown and Harold Little of Yellow Springs.

PRAYER MEETINGS

REPLACE GAMBLING

Atlanta, Ga., March 12.—Professors at Emory University have a problem seldom faced by college faculties. Following the close of a two-weeks' revival conducted by Dr. Plato T. Durham, the boys have developed such an intense religious fervor instructors became alarmed at the neglect of studies.

The proverbial "crap" game of the boys' school is replaced by prayer meetings lasting well into the morning.

EDITORIAL
As Father Time rolls along in his chariot of golden minutes he leaves in passing many changes in this old world. One of the most recent innovations is the change that has taken place in the Central Hi Review. For the next few weeks the Review is going to visit the Gazette and it is to be hoped that the attraction will be mutual.

For countless reasons the pupils of Central High hate to give up the individual form of the paper but owing to the project of the exclusive "lithy luer" the Review has had to seek shelter for a time under the wide spreading wing of the Gazette.

We are truly grateful for the temporary refuge afforded by the Gazette and we hope that the Central Hi Review will not wear its welcome out.

Let every pupil of Central High get behind the Review in its new form and be boosters instead of knockers.

THE DEBATING SOCIETY
Just a short time ago there was a movement started for a Debating Society in our High School; but it seemed as though there was not enough spirit to carry the project through.

It was announced through the halls and in the rooms when the Club was inaugurated, and we feel sure that everyone understood what was going on.

Now that is has commenced, we lack the spirit and co-operation of our student body which is essential to put this project on its feet and get it started.

We believe we can remedy the situation somewhat by insisting that the others in the work, and showing what advantages there are to be derived therefrom. There are a number of ways in which we can help, and we need this train of thought, some even being afraid to recite before their classes, but the object of our club is to make every member out of our boys and girls.

Another thing, our classes are not well enough represented in the club and we wish to extend welcome to all who wish to participate in the activities of the Society.

The Sophomore and Junior classes, an especial interest in the club, because the future success of the club will depend upon them after this year.

Remember, that "it is your club" and that you are needed to help make it grow and be better. We hope we can have a better representation at the next meeting, and that everyone will be ready to participate in the work and promote the best interests of the whole Society.

Association Benefit Not Successful

As the financial straits of the Athletic Association are so bad that the basketball team was forced to pay their own way to the tournament, in order to get the cash they gave a benefit at the Bijou. For some strange and unforeseen reason this benefit was not patronized as it should have been and consequently no overwhelming profits were gained. But the story grows and Xenia came home with a good record but still without money. Again they decided that a benefit should be given. It was given on Wednesday and on account of the team's splendid record at Delaware the place was packed. That's what a reputation will do.

Alumni Notes

Robert Hurley class of '19 is making good with the Woolworth Company. He was called to Buffalo March 1 and given charge of a new store which they are opening in Endicott, New York. While he was in Central High he worked mornings, evenings and Saturdays in the local store and he has learned the business from the ground up.

The Woolworth Company has been pleased with his work through these years and has rewarded him with a splendid position and salary. We wish him abundant success in his work.

Robert Mendenhall class of '19 is seriously ill at his home near Xenia. His many friends can hardly realize that a boy of his splendid physical appearance could have his health so impaired. His fine record in Central made many friends for him who will watch his condition anxiously and hope for his recovery.

Allen Kestle a member of the class of '20, now a student at Delaware, was a booster for the Xenia team at the tournament and was present at all the games helping to swell the noise of the rosters as they cheered the team to victory.

Paul Satterfield class of '19 was also a loyal supporter of the Central team and kept every one in a good humor with usual wit which never fails him.

Among the alumnae were Olive Huston and Dorothy Paulkner who added greatly to the Xenia contingent both by their yells and by their hospitality to the Xenia girls who were visiting Delaware.

Lois Benbow '20 was the guest of Olive Huston '18 during the week-end of the tournament.

VOTE OF THANKS TO MR. ECKERLE

Owing to the discontinuance of the Central Hi Review, as an independent paper, for at least a few weeks, we wish to thank Mr. Eckerle for his many kind helps, accommodations and helpful suggestions in the past career of the Review. Mr. Eckerle has given up much of his valuable time for our benefit and the entire High School wishes to thank him very sincerely.

In School

When I'm in school a studyin', And mindin' every rule, So I answer kinda faintly, And I feel so very dull—

When I dream of goin' fishin' The teacher says "Now class, The parts of speech," I answer "Cat and perch and bass."

Then she says "Where's Egypt?" On my head I get a tap So I answer kinda faintly, "I guess it's on the map."

Who discovered the Mississippi? Says teacher, "Willie you know." "Why-er yes" I answer blissfully. "Twas Edgar Allen Poe." When I'm a little "sassy" I get a reprimand, And seeking pity from folks Dad deals me a hotter hand.

KEENEST UTTER KARNIVAL

On Tuesday, March 15th, the Seniors are going to stage the first Keenest Utter Karnival in the history of the school. Here-tofore there have been numerous and varied carnivals but the coming one is scheduled to supplant any fond memories left by its predecessors.

Added charm is lent to the occasion by the strict secrecy with which the promised new features of the carnival are guarded.

An admission of ten cents only will be charged but it would be advisable to have an extra supply in your pockets.

Praise Given To Fine Work Of the Team

A rejoicing assembly was held Tuesday when everyone gave vent to their feeling and revealed in Xenia's high standing the state tournament.

Mr. Pendry first acquainted his willing listeners with the fact that Capt. "Bill" LeSourd was chosen as one of the forwards on the all State second team, and that Paul Boxwell had been among those that were honorably mentioned.

When the news reached their ears, the jubilant "kids" just barely left the roof on the building. Then Mr. Pendry spoke of Xenia's wonderful showing at the tournament. He stated that they outshone nine-tenths of the other teams down there by their fine play.

Mr. Beacham added his praise of Xenia's illustrious team. One of the most interesting things that he said to the team was that even though they did not win the championship they would get their promised feed because of their splendid playing. So all the pie and cakes that they have been deprived of will be set seriously in front of them so they may gorge to their heart's content.

Cheering Helps After All

Five minutes till eight Betty Brown walked hurriedly toward the traction office, her cheeks were flushed and her eyes sparkled with eagerness. A sudden gust of the rude March wind, which is no respecter of persons, caught the dainty spring bonnet and whirled it down the street until it seemed for spite, it was dropped in the muddy gutter. Here a gallant youth rescued it and with graceful manner returned it to its fair owner. Alas! the car was moving with it all Betty's companions bound for the tournament in it, while to the surprise of the rescuer, tears sprang to her eyes. She, the dignified Miss Brown, told her story to a stranger who introduced himself as Mr. Greene and invited her to go in his car. She was forced to accept since she was cheer leader for the girls and the players listened for her voice in victory or defeat.

At the college, the boys were waiting the signal to start. They had gazed long enough on the olive of victory and were determined to carry it home. The game started but there was something lacking on the side of the team that seemed to forebode defeat.

A cry arose from the crowd. Betty's voice like the ripple of music heard the winning team. It was a happy laughing bunch that excitedly turned towards home. The girls proud of the fellow and the fellows who denied that honor was due them. They gave it all to the girls who cheered them on and most of all to the one who saved the day, Betty Brown.

Senior Scribblings

No one will ever be justly able to accuse the Seniors of not being able to keep a secret. It's up to everyone else to see for themselves. Why you'd think there was going to be a four reel circus, the fact the actors and actresses practice the stunt committee works in the deaf and dumb language. And those in the play will be singing, regular contracts like Charlie Chaplin and Sarah Bernhart, but when it comes to telling about what they are doing so privately, why, you never can tell.

Captain Bill LeSourd, who is a distinguished member of our class, as we all know, has risen to fame and the fortune we hope, will come soon. The class of '21 will ever be proud of his record. May success happiness and health ever be yours, "Captain Bill."

MAY CALL SPECIAL MEETING OF CITY COMMISSION, SOON

Although members of the city commission have been notified informally of the election of City Manager Kenyon Riddle as City Manager of Middletown, they have not considered the matter in session, nor have they taken any action as a body in regard to Mr. Riddle's subsequent resignation or the appointment of his successor.

As plenty of applications for the position of City Manager of Middletown were received without advertising for them, it is believed by members of the commission, that with the announcement of Mr. Riddle's resignation, there will be a number of candidates present themselves for the local position from whom a competent Manager can be selected.

"I am very glad to hear of Mr. Riddle's new position, if he is improving himself," said J. Thron Charters, president of the City Com-

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydro-chloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

mission Saturday afternoon. "I don't like to see Xenia lose him but as long as it is a move for the better for him, I wish him God Speed. Regarding his successor, I think we can find somebody to fill the bill without a great deal of trouble, although we have not taken any action on it as yet."

Dr. A. D. DeHaven, who is vice president of the Commission said: "I am glad to see him get the job. I am not glad to see him leave and I don't think that his departure is a good thing for the city just now, but I like to see him better himself."

"Mr. Riddle is a good man and I hate to see him go," said Commissioner C. S. Frazier. "However, since he is improving himself, I am glad he got the position. We have no one in mind as his successor yet. One man applied for the position as soon as he heard Mr. Riddle was an applicant for the Middletown position, though."

Commissioners Harry Fisher and Arthur Whalen could not be reached for an expression of their views.

NINE-TENTHS OF THE NATION WILL APPROVE THIS LONG DELAYED ACT OF JUSTICE.

President Harding in urging upon the Senate the ratification of the Colombian treaty has given the country another evidence of his resolute determination to pursue the course which he deems right and just, even though his recommendation may run counter to influential opinion in his own party or challenge the Senate leaders who are represented by his enemies as the dictators of his policy. The agreement with Colombia is an act of justice to a weak neighbor upon whom a great wrong was inflicted when President Roosevelt "took Panama."

Whatever wrongs there may have been on the Colombian side during the negotiations over the canal concession, however just may be the charge that the Cartagena Government sought to blackmail the United States by exacting a price and terms that were unreasonable, these things are no justification for the injury done to a weaker neighbor when by her own interposition by force we prevented her from asserting her own authority over one of her most valuable possessions.

If Panama had won independence by her own unaided endeavors, if United States troops and naval forces had taken no part in the revolt against Colombia, if there had been no indecent haste in the sealing of the canal compact with the three or four day old Republic of Panama, there might be legitimate ground for the opposition to a program that contemplates payment of Colombia for the loss she sustained.

It is a pity that the merits of the Colombian treaty question are complicated and clouded by sentimental considerations relating to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt. But it is a mistaken notion that the United States should refrain from doing justice merely because an act of reparation might be construed as a condemnation of our own previous policy. We did a wrong, and until that wrong is redressed and frankly confessed we shall deserve to have our sincerity called in question by our neighbors over whom we aspire to hold and keep the position of friend and protector.

WANTED—A NEW LEVER ACT.

There will be little surprise over the decision of the supreme court that the food and coal sections of the Lever act are unconstitutional. But there will be a very general regret that what seemed like the only curb to profiteering in these universally needed commodities has been removed.

The court based its opinion largely upon the indefiniteness of the sections of the bill under consideration. Chief Justice White remarked as an aside to his prepared opinion that the scope of these sections was apparently "as broad as human imagination" and that "the degree of criminality was left to ever-changing standards." His written opinion expressed the consensus of the court that these sections did not "constitute a fixing by congress of an ascertainable standard of guilty," and were not "adequate to inform the persons accused of violation thereof of the nature and cause of the accusations against them."

The result of the decision will be to nullify all indictments which have been secured or are being sought under these provisions to punish profiteers in food and coal, and will put an end to further prosecution under these sections of the act.

Since the Lever act has proved to be hasty war-time legislation, improperly thought out to make it continuously effective, it is better that it should go. It should be replaced, however, with more carefully drafted laws which will, if possible, keep the profiteer from continuing to prey upon the public as he has been doing.

THE KIND OF PAY OLD TIME EDITORS RECEIVED.

Hamilton Holt in the Independent (New York).

What compensation comes to the editor in the practice of the profession so nobly sketched by Lowell other than the consciousness of duty well performed? In the olden days the pecuniary results were somewhat meager. In 1775 Thomas Page was engaged by R. Aitken, as editor of the Pennsylvania Magazine at a salary of $25 a year. Sedgwick wrote of the editor of the old Atlantic Magazine, "His publishers are liberal gentlemen. They pay him $500 a year." When Bryant was editor of the New York Review and Athenaeum he wrote to Dana, "My salary is $1,000 no great sum to be sure, but it is twice what I get when I practice in the country." In 1857 The Atlantic Monthly paid Lowell a salary of $2,500 with an appropriation of $6 a page for contributions.

The salaries of editors of the old time dailies were on the same modest scale. Horace Greeley once said, "There may be such a thing as a $5,000 salary in the newspaper business, but the largest I personally know of is $3,000." Charles Hopkins Clark says that he knows of salaries today that are double this figure, and he truly adds, "I think that all men familiar with newspaper work will bear me out, no other business pays so little for so much work and so much talent as the newspaper does."

There are so many conflicting reports out of Russia, relative to the revolution now in progress, that we are tempted to believe that Kerensky may be staging a comeback.

It would appear that the Germans, who are still singing, "Deutschland Uber Alles," have an exaggerated sense of proportion.

We have been for some time at a loss to know how the term "flapper," as applied to a young girl originated, until we consulted the dictionary and found this definition, "a young game bird, not yet able to fly well."

Sure signs of spring—all the members of the fair sex are either buying, renovating or making early season headgear.

Judging by the reports we hear of the modern dances, the French corset manufacturers who are raising a fund of $100,000 to start a campaign to popularize their product, are throwing good money after the bad.

The modern school girl seems to be more interested in a basketball than in her mother's market basket.

The ladies of the circle for the purveying of gossip came near to angry words recently, when someone introduced the topic of whether skirts, this year were shorter than they should be, one side lining up with the reformers and the other with the physicians.

NOT EXACTLY THE PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT TO GAIN OUR SYMPATHY.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

The North King Street fountain which was donated the city some time ago by the late John Little and Judge Munger met with a mishap today. A couple of men on a load of hay failed to turn out sufficiently and the bowl and the upper part of the fountain was caught by the wagon and thrown down.

The city council held a called meeting last night for the purpose of extending the time to the Citizens Telephone Company, for completing its system in this city. In the franchise as originally granted the company was given six months but additional time was found necessary.

Tom Raxworthy the stone carver who is doing all the ornate mental work in stone for the new court house is about to begin cutting griffins or winged lions one of which will be placed at each side of the Detroit Street entrances.

Three Greene County boys enlisted for service in the United States army a few days ago. They are Frank Weiss of the Lower Bellbrook pike, Harry Barnett of the Upper Bellbrook pike and Ora Leach of Goes. The boys enlisted in Dayton and were sworn in and donned the blue and were given leave to come home for a few days.

The Week With Ohio Solons

Columbus, March 12.—With program of the Legislative Reorganization Committee almost completed, it is hardly likely that Democratic threats of a referendum will deter the efforts of the General Assembly in an effort to give to the state some sort of administrative code which will tend toward politics and more toward business.

Attention is called by Senator Whittemore and others who have been untiring in their efforts to bring about a practical solution of the management of the business affairs of the state, that with the present array of boards and commissions, the promised economy of the last two Democratic administrations has failed to materialize and at the present rate of expenditure there can be no hope for a reduction in state expense.

There is some opposition to the plan which will be submitted—providing for a bureau of ten commissions, but it is hoped by those who have worked hard to group the different departments for better administration and less expense, but differences may be ironed out as the bill is considered and that in the final analysis Ohio's Administrative Code will be as near perfection as that of any other state.

Recognition early in his administration by President Harding, of the worth of Charles E. Hard, of Portsmouth, meets with general approval among Republicans. Mr. Hard has long been a leader in Republican affairs of Southern Ohio and was postmaster of Portsmouth for a number of years. For the last few years Mr. Hard has been secretary of the Republican State Advisory Committee and in that capacity had general supervision of the publicity of that committee. During the pre-election campaign, Mr. Hard was employed in a confidential capacity in Marion and it is in such a capacity that he becomes attached to the official family of President Harding.

Another appointment which meets with the approval of a large circle of friends is that of George B. Christian, Jr., to be Secretary to the President. During the six years Mr. Harding was in the senate Mr. Christian was an almost constant companion, as well as secretary. Men of large affairs have come to look upon him as an ideal man for the secretarial position. He is keen, alert, always courteous and possesses an exceptional memory for names and faces. With all he knows Ohio and Ohioans and in the position of secretary will be able to bring to the attention of President Harding the claims of Ohio people no matter how humble.

The appointment of Harry M. Daugherty as Attorney General is met with universal approval in his metropolis. Even former political enemies have approved because of the stuff they know the new Attorney General to the effect that the address of Mr.

General to be made of. Almost without exception the first statement heard in the capital concerning the Daugherty appointment has been: "They'll not put anything over on Harry."

With thousands of claims against the government for war contracts, some just and many unjust, it is proper that there be a man in the office of Attorney General who will see that nothing is "put over."

The elevation of Mr. Daugherty was without his seeking and financially it is a loss to him. In private practice he would have reaped the benefit of large acquaintance. He made a sacrifice as he did in the primary, of time, money and eminent private legal position, to "stay with the ship." It is characteristic of the man.

The public election bill, revising and codifying the election laws, is ready for consideration in the Assembly. It was drafted by George Schauf, of Canton, known widely as an election expert, Senator Norwood, Representative Graham and assisted by L. D. Johnson, statistician in the office of the Secretary of State. There are a number of changes, the high spots being as follows:

One registration, which shall be sufficient for all time unless the voter removes or fails to vote for two elections. In case of removal, a transfer must be had. Failure to vote in two elections necessitates re-registration. This feature will save thousands of dollars.

When a man or woman registers, the party affiliation must be given. This will prevent voters of one party and voting on the primary of the other as has been charged in previous years, especially when one party had no contest.

Each county has a card index of the voters and many candidates for office may have a copy by paying the sum of $1 per thousand names.

There is no cut in the membership of the board of elections and the same manner of selecting members of the board of elections prevails as at present.

Any voter may register at the office of the board of elections, city or township clerk. These last are designated so that the farmer or rural voter may register when convenient. Clerks are designated election officials.

No additional power is placed in the hands of the secretary of State under the reorganization.

This a Republican measure, framed by Republicans and the saving which will be incurred will rebound to the credit of the present Republican administration.

The folk returning from the inauguration at Washington, are filled with "pep" and enthusiasm over the launching of the new administration. They report that comments of those from every section of the country were to the effect that the address of Mr.

Is It Yours?

This is the Birthday of GEORGE BERKELEY March 12, 1685

George Berkeley, Irish Bishop and Philosopher, was born in Ireland, in 1685. He went to Trinity College, Dublin, when he was 15 years old, where because of the peculiar development of his mind, he refused to accept any teaching until he had proved it to be true, an attitude that made some regard him as a dunce and others as a genius.

He developed an enormous interest in philosophy, so much so that he published two such high sounding works as "A New Theory of Vision" and "Principals of Human Knowledge," when he was 22 years old. The particular philosophy he believed in is shown in his "Common Place Book," one of the most amazing autobiographies in existence, a book in which Berkeley jotted down, from time to time, the ideas that came to him and the principals he was working out.

From the time he was 22 he was a college tutor. He paid a short visit to England and met Jonathan Swift who presented him at Court. His charming personality made him an immediate favorite, in fact one woman who had met him only once at dinner was so impressed by him that many years afterwards when she died she left him half her fortune.

Berkeley married when he was 45 and sailed with his wife to the Bermudas where he hoped to establish an English colony, mostly for the benefit of Americans. His plan never went through. He returned to England and to Oxford and died there when he was 68 years old.

His plan for his college, as he expressed it, was to have a means of education for the "savage Americans"—his biographer did not state whether he meant the Indians over here, or the Colonial settlers.

Harding, breathing the spirit of good will and peace and its stirring note urging all classes of people to get down to hard work and back to sane thinking will be of great value to the country in restoring confidence and bringing it back to normalcy.

As time for its consideration approaches, the bill of Representative C. Gilbert Taylor, of Norwalk providing for the showing of Sunday pictures, under certain restrictions, is attracting attention of many, especially labor. The latter spokesmen are favoring the bill because of the unemployment and the general unrest in certain parts of the state. They are demanding properly censored motion pictures as a means of recreation for those who labor and in the arguments for that forth call attention that properly censored motion pictures are much more to be desired as a Sunday afternoon diversion than the soft drink emporium or the billiard hall.

GOMPERS ATTACKS DETECTIVE AGENCIES

Boston, March 11.—Fully eighty per cent of the activities of private detective agencies is in fomenting labor troubles, declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor today. "These detective agencies are hired by employers of labor to foment trouble among their workers and lead them to make demands that are unreasonable and fail in their purpose giving labor another black eye."

Congress should investigate this, urged the veteran labor leader. "Organized labor will resist by every lawful means within its power attempts to reduce wages," he told interviewers.

Rippling Rhymes

THE DISCORD.

Though grateful people may rejoice o'er blessings they possess, you'll always hear a plaintive voice proclaiming bleak distress. The most of us are cheery guys who brandish pleasant grins; we don't send up our doleful cries until we bark our shins. We know this world's a good old joint in which to spend our years, and so don't linger to anoint the veldt with useless tears. A better world we could not wish, life is its own reward; but there is always some poor fish who hits a minor chord. And while we sing of azure skies and blue and silver seas, he jars us with discordant cries of crape and soup and cheese. We travel on a sun-lit track and play the fife and drum, but he has read the almanac, and knows that storms will come. We see the bride and bridegroom pass, and boost their wedding rags; but he is sure that flesh is grass and brides will be old hags. We sing of hope and happy days, and dance upon the sward; but always there are dreary jays who hit the minor chord.

REDUCTION SUGGESTIONS

Reduction has long since ceased to be a matter of haphazard guess work. It has become a matter of science and a great many doctors have made fortunes out of it.

There is also a great deal of nonsense that is written and spoken on the subject of dieting and there is a great deal of nonsense that is practiced as a means of reduction. Any woman who will take the time and trouble to read up a little bit on this subject can soon distinguish the good advice from the bad. For after all the best rule to go by is the rule of common sense.

There is one excellent rule to remember and that is eat the right foods in the right quantities. If you have a tendency towards fleshiness, don't eat so many sweets, until you have reduced to your normal weight. The rule, of course works both ways. That is if you are thin eat more fats and starches but use your common sense in either case. For you must take in some fat even with thinning foods and if you are thin you can not eat too much without getting indigestion. But it is quite possible to eat just the right foods in the right quantities and to acquire the right weight and the process of so doing is not very complicated.

If you are too fat don't sleep too much and don't indulge in occasional naps. Don't over-eat and don't drink with your meals. Above all don't ride when you can possibly walk. Every fat person should exercise and few fat people want to. The easiest method of exercising is to walk, that is why I advise walking whenever possible for any person who is over-weight.

Jerry—A girl of 17 years old, five feet tall, should weigh 113 pounds. You are over-weight, you are probably over-eating, and if you reduce, the pimples you complain of will disappear.

Helen H. — Eating oranges is splendid for the complexion, because oranges contain beneficial acid and clear the system.

J. K. — If your rings turn your fingers green, my first guess would be that they are not solid gold. Possibly they are what is known as gold-filled and have worn down to the metal inside the filling. Of course, it is just possible that your system possesses a great deal of acid, so that your skin is affected by metal. I have heard of such cases occasionally before.

Ruth B. — I would advise you to use liquid face powder, because this is very drying to the complexion. If you keep your skin in healthy condition you can use plain rice powder on it which is perfectly harmless.

Blue Eyes:—From time to time articles on curing pimples appear in this space. If you have not seen any recently, send me a letter with a self-addressed stamped envelope enclosed for directions on taking care of the skin.

INTER-RACIAL GAME HERE IS CANCELLED

The third game of the city championship series between the Xenia Athletics, the colored team, and the Shamrocks, which was to have been played at the Rink Monday, has been called off, it was announced Saturday morning.

It was felt that it is best to postpone the game for at least a week or two. Each team now has a game apiece.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

(D) "Club work among our boys and girls."

Superintendent D. H. Barnes and his teachers are in sympathy with the "Club Work Movement," and assured Ford S. Prince, county agent, who was present at each meeting, and addressed the teachers on this work, that they are willing to co-operate by organizing "Stock Judging," "Home Economics," "Poultry" and "Pig Clubs" among the boys and girls. Meetings of these clubs will be held once a month, and for the first two mentioned, instructors from the O. S. U. will have charge. The first meeting of classes for this purpose in Sugarcreek, Spring Valley and Xenia Townships will be held April 21st and the second meeting, May 12th.

April 21st "Beef Cattle" will be judged at some good stock farm in each township.

All schools are planning a program for Arbor Day, April 28th. This will be a clean-up day. Tree planting and beautifying of school grounds will feature.

Steps toward Mass Day programs for the closing of the schools were taken, also.

XENIA IS WINNER IN INITIAL GAME

Playing in poor form, still Central High School basketballers were enabled to defeat Jamestown High School in the opening game of the Saturday morning rounds at the county tournament at Antioch College, the score being 20-16.

The locals were off-color all the way through the pastime, showing good pass work but being decidedly weak on basketballing. Captain LeSourd finished the first half with three personal fouls on him, and he had to take it easy during the second period, retiring once in favor of Gegner. The locals got away to a poor start and the first half ended with the score 7-7. After obtaining the lead in the second period, the locals passed the ball considerably as a time killing stunt. Jamestown, playing without the services of Ferguson, presented a remarkably fast team. The lineup and summary:

Eruptions of the Skin Cause Tortuous Itching

If you are afflicted with any form of skin disorder, you are well acquainted with the flaming, burning itching that these diseases produce.

Skin diseases are caused by an impurity or disorder in the blood, and there is no real and genuine relief within your reach until such impurities are removed.

Retailers are Chary of "Shelf Clingers"

RETAILERS will be cautious buyers for some time to come.

They have had to take inventory losses and they know that "shelf clingers" are not good collateral at the bank.

They are changing prices as the market changes—as the advertising in this newspaper shows.

The manufacturer or jobber who sells our storekeepers new goods will have to demonstrate that his brand is a sure seller.

And that means it must be something the public wants, something right in quality, right in price and, above all else, properly advertised.

The salesman who will write the orders is the one who can say to the retailer:

"We are advertising these goods in the newspapers of your city. We are telling all your possible customers about them. We are making a market, not a thousand miles away, but right here at your doorstep."

The retailer will buy newspaper-advertised goods, because he knows they will move and give him his normal profit.

This is the time for wise manufacturers and jobbers to help themselves and their dealers by concentrating their advertising in the daily newspapers.

The quick way to "selling the dealer" is to sell goods for the dealer.

MARKETS

Stocks

The effect of such further complications with Germany as may arise upon the future market is problematical. The occupation of three German cities caused no disturbance of values, probably because traders felt that occupation of new territory would not appreciably alter the situation. Exchange maintained its poise. It will be remembered that the market paid slight attention to the French advance last April. Should active resistance to Allied occupation develop, a stampede might occur. Harding's inaugural speech received favorable comment but failed to influence the course of prices. The dullness and irregularity which characterized the February market continued through recent inactivity. The market, and business generally, awaits constructive action. Mere assurance count for little.

Grain

Price fluctuations of erratic character in the grain market give no positive clue as to the future trend of prices. The government report on farm reserves encouraged wheat bulls, but lent slight encouragement to bulls on corn and oats. News from abroad affected prices oppositely as export prospects brightened and declined. Crop and weather reports will figure largely in traders' calculations. Henceforth Export business continues in moderate volume. The advent of the new administration was construed as a bullish influence, suggesting improvement in business conditions. Farmers have little time to haul and receipts are light in consequence. Seeding of oats and plowing for corn are in progress.

Livestock

The character of reports from the livestock market as March began differed widely from late January news. Prices in late January were unduly low and the market pretty much demoralized. Dressed meat and consumption has increased. Otherwise the upturn in late February would not have continued into the new month. Prices were highest of the year and every branch of the trade showed strength and temporary optimism. The improved demand for poultry, cattle and feeding lambs was a natural result. The improved condition gave some evidence of permanency. The heavy winter run of hogs for example is over.

Cotton

The Allied occupation of German territory bore down on cotton as suggesting a sharp restriction of exports. The steadiness of exchange was a reassuring factor. Cotton has suffered a sensational decline within the past year and is selling lower than at this time eight years ago. Seemingly bottom is near. Estimates put the reduction of acreage in Texas at 27 per cent or a total of 3,139,000 acres. Various trade bodies in South Carolina are urging a reducing of at least 50 per cent. Field work in preparation for the new crop is still backward despite favorable weather. On the other hand the large carryover and world conditions preclude an extended upward movement. Mill demand is spasmodic rather than active.

Wool

The wool market is marking time. Advances from the goods trade show an improved tone although the trade is far from normal. The president's veto of the Fordney tariff bill halted such activity as had developed. Growers will now await their next chance to push a protective tariff on wool through congress. Harding has pledged the Republican party to revision of the tariff upward and wool is sure to participate even though final action may not come before midsummer. Foreign wool has been arriving in large quantities during the past month and a glut of wool undoubtedly exists. Arrivals of foreign wool at Boston during February were 38,718,000 pounds as against 13,726,000 last year. Arrivals of foreign wool at Boston thus far this year are eight times the arrivals of domestic wool.

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

Caused by Woman's Ills and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grafton, Pa.—"I was troubled with inflammation and pains in my sides and back. After doctoring with different doctors and not getting relief, I had almost given up hopes when my sister told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and knowing that she had really been helped by it, I purchased it. I was unable to do my work at that time, but after taking several bottles of the Vegetable Compound I can now do anything about the house or farm that a woman should do. I have a four months old baby that is the healthiest and biggest baby for his age that I have ever seen. I am willing for my letter to be used for a testimonial to tell other suffering women how much your medicine has done for me, as I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the praise."—Mrs. BLAIR L. FISHER, R.D. 1, Box 37, Grafton, Pa.

Working early and late—lifting, carrying, and the heaviest of household duties—sit any wonder that it results in backaches and kindred ills. But every woman who suffers as Mrs. Fisher did should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

any buying stimulus and stagnation is prevalent. Price cutting by the smaller independents has failed to attract business. Railroad takings are light. More merchant furnaces have banked their fires. The copper market is quiet and weak. Trouble over the German indemnity darkens the export outlook.

Agriculture

Defeat of the Fordney Emergency Tariff through the president's veto caused some disappointment in the rural districts although it had been expected. The president made clear that America in order to maintain her export markets and enable her debtors to pay, must import freely. That certain agricultural products, notably wool, deserve emergency protection still remains a conviction widely held.

The absence of emergency tariff legislation tending to increase the domestic price of farm products will count heavily in the anticipated dickering between various groups of employers and employees during the next few months over wage reductions. Labor can with less reason expect a reversal of the downward trend so noticeable in the cost of living. It is better that wages and the price of manufactured goods should decline to a level of farm products than that food stuffs, wool and cotton should approach their former levels. An evening up process is in prospect, whereby the products of farm and factory will reach a harmonious level, the one group rising and the other falling.

TESTED RECIPES

Goulash—Brown one cup chopped, left-over meat with a medium sized onion in drippings. Add one cup of cooked tomatoes, and two cups of canned macaroni. Season and brown in oven. This is a most satisfying and savory dish.

Salad (jellied tomato)—Add one cup of strained canned tomato, one teaspoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon sugar (scalding) to one-half envelope gelatine moistened in one-quarter cup of cold water. Chill in rounding moulds that will make forms resembling tomatoes when turned out. Pick into top several small celery leaves, and put a ring of heavy mayonnaise around it. Light but nutritious.

Cranberry Conserve—Boil two cups cranberries, two cups water, two cups sugar, rind of one orange, until latter is tender, add pulp of one orange, one cup raisins. Boil ten minutes, add one-half cup chopped nuts, and bring again to boil.

Escalloped Cabbage and Rice—Oil a baking dish and fill it with alternate layers of cooked rice, white sauce, and raw cabbage that has been chopped fine. Sprinkle the top with salt and pepper, bread crumbs and bits of butter, then bake an hour in a moderate oven, keeping the dish covered the first forty-five minutes.

Turkish Rice—One cup boiled rice, two cups tomato juice, one chopped onion, one-half cup chopped almonds. Add the nuts and seasonings to the boiled rice and simmer slowly for one hour.

Spanish Rice—Two cups boiled rice, one cup chopped ham, two cups tomato sauce, one tablespoon chopped parsley. Place a layer of rice in a baking dish, cover with a layer of ham, moisten with tomato sauce and continue until ingredients are used up. Bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes. Serve garnished with chopped parsley.

Italian Rice—One cup rice, one cup stewed tomatoes, one-half cup grated cheese, one and one-half tablespoons butter, one tablespoon salt. Boil the rice, then drain. Melt butter, add chopped onion and cook until brown. Add tomatoes, salt and simmer for thirty minutes. Pour over the rice, sprinkle with cheese and serve at once. For inexpensive desserts rice also has many possibilities. One of the best of these require no eggs, an advantage at the present time of high prices.

Left-over Rice—Left-over rice may be deliciously utilized by packing it in baking powder tins and letting it stand long enough to mold. Then slip it out of the tin little by little, slicing it as it is slipped out. Fry these slices first on one side and then on the other as you would a pancake, using any fat which you prefer.

BURGLAR'S APPETITE

RESULTS IN CAPTURE

Dayton, Ohio, March 12—Dayton's "hungry burglar" is on trial. If convicted he will get life for burglarizing inhabited dwellings at night.

His name is Bradley Smith, alias James Jackson, colored. It is said he robbed more than a dozen houses.

Each night while out at "work" he would take time in a house to eat a meal from the icebox or cupboard.

He tarried too long at a midnight lunch and was caught.

THE WOMAN HE MARRIED

NAN AND JUANITA DISCUSS MARRIAGE

Chapter 113.
Dick had written an ambitious story, that was what he called it. It was longer, the theme more serious than any he had yet sent to a publisher. He had written it either locked in his study, or when I sat with him quietly mending, or designing motifs for my decorative work. Not once had Juanita entered the study when he was working upon it, although she came over frequently. Always I told her Dick could not be disturbed, and often he would unconsciously bear me out by coming into the living room or on the porch for a moment and then excusing himself.

"Can't I help, Dick?" she asked one day, annoyed I think because of being shut out.

"No, thank you, Juanita, I am going alone this time. Perhaps the next thing I write I will need you." The look he gave her went far to spoil any pleasure I may have had sensed in his refusal to allow her to assist him. He was still enamored of her—even if not so completely as before.

At times my heart failed me—times like these when I saw he was still influenced by his feeling for her. Then I would wonder if it was worth while? If the unwilling faith and loyalty of any man was worth the effort I was making? Then my love would surge over me, and I would be willing to do anything, suffer anything, if only I could win back his love.

Not that Dick was ever actively unkind, he wasn't. But his indifference hurt me cruelly. Often he seemed unaware of my existence; and he had entirely stopped using any loving words or giving me the caresses he used to lavish upon me.

To be sure, he kissed me occasionally when I went out in the morning to be gone all day, but I doubt if he would have done even that had I not shown I expected it.

And I knew the reason. It was not Dick's nature to be hypocritical. He gave his caresses, his kisses, to Juanita—he would not give them to two women.

One day Juanita said to me: "I suppose the purpose of our lives is to get all the happiness out of congenial companionship wherever we can find it. That is why marriage is so often a mistake."

I was so astonished at her remark that I audibly caught my breath.

"Until then Juanita never had expressed such sentiments. 'Is marriage so often a mistake?' I asked after a bit. 'Naturally the first wild thrill passes, but isn't there a something tomes in its stead, something more stable?'"

"But is any man satisfied with what you call 'something more stable?'"

I rather wondered why she said "man"? Had I been asking the question I would have substituted, woman yet I had an idea how to answer her, yet I had an idea that she meant the companionship between herself and Dick—that it was right for them to get all they could out of it, regardless of me.

"Yes, I think so," I finally replied. "Take Dick now—he is temperamental, fond of anyone or anything which interests him. But it doesn't last. He always tells me of his feeling for this one and that one, even though he appears to be fond of them."

"You mean—that he tells you what he does? Always?"

"Not only what he does, but what he says and thinks," I exaggerated. The peculiar light in Juanita's eyes told me I had hit her in some way. I had meant to, and was delighted. So I went on.

"Of course, Juanita, I couldn't talk to everyone like this, but you and Dick have been so chummy that I feel I can say anything to you and that you will understand. Especially as you and I have been equally as chummy."

"He is horribly disappointed that our book wasn't a success," she changed the subject.

"Yes, you see you and he weren't fitted to work together, or he would have perceived the discrepancies in your ideas. Naturally he was disappointed. But he has pulled himself together and we must help him all we can."

"Help him—how?"

"By leaving him undisturbed. He hates to tell you himself, Juanita, for fear you will feel hurt, so he leaves it to me. I know you are far to sensible to feel offended if he refuses to leave the study when you come over."

"Oh, certainly! I am sure I don't want to intrude."

"I knew you would feel like that," I replied, and a little while afterward I told Dick that Juanita said she didn't expect him to leave his work when she came. Then I added:

"I guess now that she sees she isn't liable to get anything out of your friendship she is tiring."

I knew Dick so well I was positive nothing I said would be repeated. He might be indifferent, but so long as we lived together, his pride would prevent him from discussing me with Juanita.

Premier Says Economic Penalties Will Prove Effective
WARNING SOUNDED
Stand Taken That Path Will Be Open For War Of Revenge

Paris, March 12.—"If the Germans formulate new indemnity proposals we shall meet them with the same firmness that was displayed at London," declared Premier Aristide Briand today. "We are resolved not to recede from the line we have chosen."

Replying to criticism that the military and economic penalties against Germany will prove ineffective the premier said:

"They will soon show their efficiency. The results of the London conference were discussed at a cabinet meeting this morning when the premier made a report to his colleagues. The ministers also considered the reply which will be made to the government interpellations in the chamber of deputies early next week."

The debate in the chamber is expected to lead to a confidence vote on Thursday. Members of the ministry believe that the government will be an overwhelming majority in view of the turn the indemnity situation has taken. The outcome of the London conference is accepted as a big victory for France and for the French policy toward Germany.

The importance of separating the Rhineland from Germany and the linking it closer to France economically is emphasized in dispatches to the Matin and Echo De Paris today.

Amount Estimated.
Stephen Lauzanne, editor of the Matin pointed out that the amount gained from the seizure of German customs houses and the establishment of a customs frontier along the Rhine will not exceed 50,000,000 gold marks ($12,500,000) annually. He suggests that the allies extend their sanctions or penalties to include seizure of the coal mines in the Ruhr basin and the great Rhineland forests which are the property of the German government.

M. Lauzanne estimated, that, not only would the new duties increase the French customs levy to five hundred million gold marks annually, but said that "the moral effect of separating Germany from her richest province would be enormous."

On the other hand, Gustave Herve, writing in Le Victoire warns the annexationists against the success of their scheme, declaring it would give Germany a legitimate right to wage a future war of revenge. He pointed to the case of Alsace-Lorraine as an example.

Shipments of food from Germany into the occupied Rhineland will not feel the full force of the allied penalties but will be taxed only lightly, according to a Coblenz dispatch to the Echo De Paris. The allied authorities took this course to prevent an increase in the cost of living in the Rhineland. The allied program is expected to be fully arranged in four days. It is probable that the heavy tax imposed upon other German goods except food will have the effect of turning the people of the Rhineland from the German to French markets for their purchases.

NATION WIDE SEARCH ENDS IN LOS ANGELES AT LAST

Cleveland, March 12.—Indictments against suspects in connection with the murder of Wilfred C. Sly and George Fanner, on Dec. 1, are expected to be voted by the grand jury today, following receipt of word from Los Angeles of the arrest of a man there who has been the object of a nation wide search in connection with the crime.

The murders occurred when five auto bandits held up the two men, who were officials of the Fanner Manufacturing company and killed them when they attempted to protect the company's payroll.

SOVIET REGIME FACING THREE REVOLUTIONS

Serious Situation Now Menaces Future Of Russia

ALL DANGEROUS
Factions Made Up Of Various Dissatisfied Elements.

Washington, March 12.—There are no less than three distinct and separate movements of sizeable proportions against the Lenin-Trotsky government in Russia according to official advices received here today. The revolt of Kronstadt, which has attracted perhaps more general attention than the others, is to many observers less significant and less dangerous to the soviet regime than the others.

The first Prastorian guard which is now in control of Kronstadt is reported in these advices to be made up of disgruntled communists who would condemn Kerensky as readily as they would condemn Lenin and whose chief complaint seems to lie in their belief that the communists at Moscow are getting more than their share of the spoils of the government.

They are for the most part, sailors without family or responsibilities, ready to join in any movement which promises them a greater hand in the government.

Made Up Of Workmen
The revolutionary movements in Petrograd and Moscow are made up of workmen whose principal grievance is the alleged attempt on the part of the soviet authorities to break up the trade unions. There are other causes of dissatisfaction but the immediate reason for the outbreak is believed to have been the determination of the Moscow officials to abandon the policy of peaceful conversion by propaganda and employ military measures to break down unionism.

The demonstrations at Petrograd unlike those at Kronstadt were marked by parades in which women and children joined.

The Moscow and Petrograd revolutionaries are reported to have established communication by wireless with the Kronstadt factions, but the two movements were distinct in their inception and even now there is little evidence of consistent co-operation.

The third, and from many points of view, most serious movement against the power of Lenin and Trotsky, is the revolution among the peasants. This is believed to be most dangerous because it involves the greater part of the population of Russia and apparently is a general uprising which has no propaganda or organization behind it.

The food requisitioning decrees are said to have been the immediate cause of the peasant rebellion.

BRITISH SOLDIERS RETURN FIRE OF ATTACKING PARTIES.

London, March 12.—Seven Sinn Feiners were killed in county Leitrim Ireland, when a detachment of 30 British soldiers was attacked near Sellen Hill, said a Central News dispatch from Dublin today.

The troops were attacked from entrenchments erected as part of an ambush.

The soldiers returned the fire and a fierce battle ensued.

PRESIDENT ISSUES APPEAL FOR AID TO STRICKEN CHINA

Washington, March 12.—President Harding today issued an appeal to the American people to continue their aid to famine stricken China.

"The American nation has never failed to demonstrate its friendship for the people of China," the president's appeal said, "and that friendship has always been reciprocated in a manner which I feel justifies the hope that in this hour of China's greatest distress our people will do everything in their power for its amelioration."

WASHINGTON TO MEDIATE, BOTH SIDES AGREE

Packers and Employes To Send Representatives East

CARRY OUT PLANS
Walkout Referendum Program Going Forward As Planned.

Chicago, March 12.—President Harding's suggestion, offered through Secretary of Labor Davis, that the packers and their employes each send representatives to Washington to aid in an investigation of the packing house wage controversy has been agreed to by both sides it was unofficially but authoritatively learned today. Formal replies from both the packers and the unions are expected to be forwarded to the president today. No names of representatives has as yet been suggested.

Chicago, March 12.—Notwithstanding President Harding's plea that the dispute between meat packers and their employes be held in abeyance until the controversy can be reviewed by the department of labor, both sides are proceeding today along lines of action already laid down.

At the headquarters of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America strike ballots, printed yesterday, were being mailed out to the 400 local unions throughout the United States. Taking of the strike ballot was authorized at a meeting in Omaha Thursday.

At the offices of the big packers here plans were going forward for putting into operation on Monday the reductions in wages and the changes in hours of labor that were announced last week. These changes will affect 200,000 workmen in all parts of the United States.

The strike ballot being sent out from Union headquarters asks:

"Do you favor and authorize a strike in the event that the government or our organization is unable to induce the packers to maintain the eight hour day in compliance with the agreement entered into with the United States department of labor?"

It is expected that the result of this referendum will be known by Wednesday of next week. Even conservative union leaders express the opinion that the verdict of the workers will sanction a strike.

SEIZE PHOTOGRAPHS AS NEW EVIDENCE

EXPECT DOCUMENTS WILL PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN DIVORCE.

New York, March 12.—Photographs and letters, which were seized by armed raiders at Mrs. James A. Stillman's summer camp near Ilham, Quebec, are expected to play an important part when the divorce suit of Mr. Stillman, multimillionaire president of the National City Bank, one of the biggest in America, comes to trial.

Details of the spectacular raid upon Mrs. Stillman's summer camp came to light today following the revelation that the banker had named a half breed Indian as co-respondent. This Indian who is described as a "beautiful specimen of manhood" was attached to the entourage of the Stillman summer camp as a guide.

Several shots were said to have been exchanged in the raid which took place, as nearly as the date can be fixed, early in June, 1919. No one was hurt however.

WATER RATES REDUCED

Marletta, O., March 12.—Water rates in Marletta will be reduced approximately 25 per cent, effective April 1, municipal water works officials announced today. Savings to the consumers will be about $20,000 a year, with a minimum rate of $6 a year.

RIDDLE ACCEPTS MANAGER'S JOB AT MIDDLETOWN

Will Leave Sometime In April For New Duties

PAYS $5,000 A YEAR
City Manager Will Not Leave Xenia Until Work Is Completed.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle, has been elected first City Manager of Middletown, Ohio.

The election took place at the meeting of the Middletown city commission Friday night, and he was notified of his appointment to the position by Commissioner Seebald, by telephone Saturday morning.

The position carries a salary of $5,000 a year which is a trial salary for the new manager, the business men having fixed the minimum at $7,500 annually and the salary will be gradually increased to this amount, it is said. Mr. Riddle will probably leave Xenia in thirty days to accept the position, although he will bring the question up to the city commission here before deciding upon a definite date for his departure.

"I will not leave Xenia until the Commissioners think that I will not be needed longer on the matter of finishing up of the work now pending," said Mr. Riddle Saturday.

"However, the paving work is concluded, and the new water works station will be put in operation within a few days, so that everything will be finished easily within thirty days. As the commission will not want to start any new work until the new Manager is on the job, I will only be standing in the way if I remain longer than that."

It has been known here for some time that Mr. Riddle was a candidate for the position of City Manager of Middletown. That city has been operating under the commission plan of government for several years, with the different commissioners acting as the department and administrative heads. Recently the city voted to adopt the commission manager plan of government and place the administration under one head.

A flood of applications immediately greeted this announcement, and Mr. Riddle's election to the position is considered all the more an honor as he was chosen from a list of at least 45 candidates. This list was gradually eliminated to three, who were considered favorably for the position, the two besides Mr. Riddle, being Wilbur Cotton, manager of Ambridge, Pa., and E. V. Stockline, assistant city manager of Dayton. While he was being considered for the position of Manager of Middletown, Mr. Riddle also received the offer of the managership of Mansfield, Mass., and has since received practically an offer to go to Palm Beach, Fla. Palm Beach is the twin city of West Palm Beach which at present employs Mr. Riddle's twin brother, Karl Riddle as City Manager.

City Manager Riddle is a Kansan by birth, and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Riddle, who recently moved to St. Paul, Minn., from Abilene, Kansas and who are well known in this city. He

R. D. FOSTER IS BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY—ON BOND

Newark, O., March 12.—Raymond B. Foster, charged with the "unlawful killing" of Opal Sowards at Buckeye Lake, was bound over to the grand jury in $5,000 for manslaughter by Mayor White of Hebron yesterday.

The evidence showed that Foster had taken the girl to his cottage at the lake, that he was the last person who saw her alive and that he found her body in the cottage. The evidence was deemed sufficient to hold Foster for a complete review of the case although the name of Lee Cunningham of Columbus, also was brought into the hearing.

RUMORS OF WAR SAID TO BE FALSE

London, March 12.—The anti-bolshevik insurgents in the Petrograd district have attacked Petrohiff and Sergheievka and 8,000 soviet troops deserted to the rebels according to a Renter dispatch from Revel today. The Daily Herald, organ of the British labor party, printed the following dispatch

Martial Law Has Not Been Declared Although Soldiers Are Co-Operating With Local Police To Meet Any Further Emergency

POLICEMAN SHOT BUT WILL RECOVER
Trouble Follows Attack On White Girl—Disorders Break Out in Yellow Springs Street District—Mayor Orders Business Houses Closed.

Springfield, O., March 12.—Quiet prevailed here this morning. Although indications of a threatened race riot, apparently have disappeared, local and state authorities are co-operating in the maintenance of precautions designed to meet promptly any emergency which might arise.

State troops on duty here are operating under the jurisdiction of the local civil authorities. Martial law has not been declared.

A call for state troops was made by local authorities when a negro shot Policeman Joseph Ryan here last night. The shooting, it is claimed, was due to strong race feeling which had been growing all week, following the action of an unknown negro who induced 11 year old Marge Ferneau to enter a vacant house where he assaulted her.

Although shot three times, Officer Ryan, who was taken to a hospital, is expected to recover.

Citizens poured into the downtown business section after the shooting which occurred in the Yellow Springs street district. Later, however, the white men dispersed peaceably and fears of the formation of a mob, bent on wreaking vengeance upon the negro population, were allayed for the time being.

Ryan, it is claimed, was shot by a negro who was being searched for fire arms. Race disorders followed in the Yellow Springs street negro district. Five negroes are said to have been shot, one man, Shirley Shaffer, being taken to the hospital.

In an effort to apprehend Officer Ryan's assailant, every available officer was detailed to service in the Yellow Springs street district.

Shots are said to have been exchanged between officers and negroes who stood behind trees and buildings, firing in the dark and making use of nearby street lights. It was reported that about 14 negroes were hit.

Caught scattering dynamite near the negro section, a white man was arrested.

Before the police broke up a large crowd of white men and boys in the downtown section, the crowd had threatened to storm the jail and city hall.

Soon after the trouble started, Mayor Wescott ordered poolrooms and soft drink places closed, directed citizens not to carry firearms and decreed that all business houses remain closed until 5 o'clock this evening.

In an effort to get out of harm's way, many negroes climbed up trees while others, it is said, left the city by interurban line, autos and on foot.

The machine gun companies have mounted machine guns around the county jail.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the large Saturday afternoon and night crowds from causing more trouble here today.

Quietude continued to prevail here at noon today.

The streets are being patrolled by city policemen, deputy sheriffs, special officers and Ohio national guardsmen. In addition to the machine guns stationed about the county jail, protecting 20 prisoners rounded up during last night's outbreaks, machine guns have been mounted at strategic points in different parts of Springfield. State troops, also, constitute a cordon around the jail. Other militiamen, with machine guns mounted on motor trucks, are patrolling the city.

Ohio National Guard officials said that if the situation does not grow worse, the city will not be placed under martial law.

A proclamation issued today by Mayor B. J. Westcott, reads:

"Following developments of Friday night, it has been deemed to be to the best interest of the citizens to call in the state troops and in order that their presence may be effective it is necessary that the city be placed under martial law, which has been requested. Col. H. B. Horner is in full command and any restrictive measures he may find it desirable to impose will please be observed. Your earnest co-operation is requested."

Cal. Horner issued an appeal to the citizens of Springfield to cooperate and avoid further trouble. He requested that all persons remain off the streets tonight and that they stay in their homes.

Officer Ryan was wounded in the abdomen, cheek and right thumb. Shaffer was hit in the thigh.

TROOPS STAND GUARD—ADDITIONAL SOLDIERS ARE READY TO BE SENT TO TROUBLE CENTER.
Columbus, O., March 12.—That the situation at Springfield "is practically quiet" is the announcement made at the adjutant general's office at 7 o'clock this morning.

Two machine gun companies of Springfield, and the London and Marysville companies, Fourth Regiment, Ohio National Guard, are on active duty at Springfield co-operating with the officials there in an effort to prevent race rioting.

The other companies of the fourth regiment, are being held at their home stations, ready for active service at Springfield, if needed. After issuing orders mobilizing the state troops, Adjutant General Florence went to Springfield to consult with municipal and county officials.

The state troops awaiting possible active service at Springfield are: Headquarters company, Fourth Regiment, Columbus. Captain J. W. Rees, commander; Machine gun company, Zanesville; supply, Columbus. Captain I. L. Ewing, commander; sanitary detachment, Delaware, Major J. B. C. Eckstorm, Columbus, commander; Company A, Marietta; Company B, Columbus; Company D, Marion; Company E, Zanesville; Company G, Greenfield; Company H, New Lexington; Company L, Columbus; Company K, Delaware; Company L, Athens.

RIDDLE ACCEPTS MANAGER'S JOB IN MIDDLETOWN

is a graduate of the University of Kansas, at Lawrence, in civil engineering and after leaving the University took a special course in municipal government.

His engineering work after leaving school consisted of seven months spent in the installation of an automatic block system for the Rock Island Railroad in Kansas, five months on a building of a water supply for Colorado Springs, Colorado; City Engineer for Abilene, Kansas for one year and engineer manager for the same city for eighteen months.

In 1915, Mr. Riddle became secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in Abilene, which position he held for six months, when he became secretary-manager of the Automobile Trade Association of Kansas. In 1916, Mr. Riddle and his brother formed a firm for private engineering business, performing engineering work on numerous paving, water works and sewer contracts. He also acted as construction engineer on several large contracts on the cost plus basis and during the building of Camp Funston, Kansas, he took a considerable part in the engineering work and was engaged to lay out Army City a new town site adjacent to Camp Funston.

Mr. Riddle came to Xenia as City Manager on January 1, 1918, at the time the commission-manager form of government assumed away here after the passing of the old federal form. Since becoming manager of Abilene, in June 1913, he has made a particular study of municipal government. He is a charter member of the City Managers Association, and has attended all of the conventions of that organization except one, being a past vice president of the association and now on its executive board. He was also a member of the original constitution and by laws committee with Henry Waite, former Manager of Dayton.

Since coming to this city Mr. Riddle has been a leader in all of the steps that have marked this city as progressive since the new form of government came into effect. Under his regime, the old order has changed in practically every department. Among the accomplishments of his regime that stand out are the big paving program that has given this city many more miles of paved streets, the shaking up of the fire department force and the motorization of that department, the systemizing of the street cleaning department, the putting into operation of the sewage disposal plant and its care, the operation of a city farm, the purchase of the water works and the construction of a new plant about to be started, the motorization of the police department, the remodeling of the Opera House, the extension and improvement of the street lighting service, and other projects of lesser importance.

Mr. Riddle will probably not hand in his resignation here until a regular meeting of the commission.

BEAVERCREEK BOYS BOUNCE OSBORN OFF FURNISHING SURPRISE OF ANTIOCH MEET

Beaver Creek High school boys' team furnished the most excitement of the Friday rounds of the seventh annual county basketball tournament at Antioch College by eliminating Osborn, rated as cup contenders, by an 18-16 score in the game played at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

The contest proved to be the surprise party of the opening rounds of the tournament. Osborn was rated as one of the strongest quintets in the big meet, and was booked to come through with colors flying until some of the harder games to wards the close of the meet at least. The Beaver Creek outfit showed rare form and the game was easily the most thrilling of the opening rounds. Osborn started off in the lead, but after the first few minutes the contest was a nip and tuck affair, with the Beaver lads showing a little better form.

The only other boys game of the opening rounds ran true to form, with Yellow Springs defeating Ross High 25-5, thereby eliminating that combination. In the afternoon, Cedarville girls eliminated the Yellow Springs girls 11-5. In the second girls game of the tournament, Cedarville girls easily eliminated by the Ross High girls 24-7 and the Cedarville High girls playing their second game defeated the Beaver Creek High girls 57-3.

The refereeing at the games with Selden and Charles handling the whistles in the boys' games and Miss Olive Huston of Ohio Wesleyan in the girls' games, is unusually good. Hughes and H. Conroy are keeping time, and the scorers are Ferdinand, Bales and Niswonger. Arthur Bales, special representative of this paper at the tournament writes: "Beaver Creek showed good form in defeating Osborn. Xenia will have a stiff game with Jamestown, but should have no trouble in defeating winner of Bellbrook-Beaver Creek game. Yellow Springs should have easy game with Ross, also with Caesar Creek and winner of the Cedarville-Bowersville game, but will have to play one more game than Xenia. Yellow Springs and Xenia should hook up in final game about evenly matched. Cedarville girls and Ross girls should come through to finals evenly matched."

Saturday night following the championship games, there will be a picked team composed of the a game between Antioch college and High School coaches who are at the tournament. The coaches team will be composed of Roger Collins, of Cedarville, William Collins of Ross, Charles Vannorstad of Bellbrook, Alfred Oggan of Jamestown, and Harold Little of Yellow Springs.

PRAYER MEETINGS

REPLACE GAMBLING

Atlanta, Ga., March 12.—Professors at Emory University have a problem seldom faced by college faculties. Following the close of a two-weeks' revival conducted by Dr. Plato T. Durham, the boys have developed such an intense religious fervor instructors become alarmed at the neglect of studies.

The proverbial "crap" game of the boys' school is replaced by prayer meetings lasting well into the morning.

EDITORIAL.
As Father Time rolls along in his chariot of golden minutes he leaves in passing many changes in this old world. One is the change that has taken place in the Central Hi Review. For the next few weeks the Review is going to visit the Gazette and it is to be hoped that the attraction will be mutual.

For countless reasons the pupils of Central High have to give up the individual form of the paper but owing to the lack of that elusive "filthy lucre" the Review has had to seek alter for a time under the wide spreading wing of the Gazette.

We are truly grateful for the temporary refuge of the Review in the Gazette and we hope that the Central Hi Review will not wear its welcome out.

Let every pupil of Central High get behind the Review in its new form and be boosters instead of knockers.

THE DEBATING SOCIETY
Just a short time ago, there was a movement started for a Debating Society in our High School; but it seemed as though there was not enough spirit to carry the project through.

It was announced through the halls and in the class rooms, when the Club was inaugurated, and we feel sure that everyone understood what was going on.

Now that is has commenced, we lack the spirit and cooperation of our student body which is essential to put this project on its feet and get it started.

We believe we can remedy the situation somewhat by interesting the others in the work, and showing what advantages there are to be derived therefrom. There are a good many who need this training badly, some even being afraid to recite before their classes, but the object of our club is to make better speakers out of our boys and girls.

Another thing, our classes are not well enough represented in the club and we wish to extend a welcome to all who wish to participate in the activities of the Society.

The Sophomore and Junior Classes take especial interest in the club, because the future success of the club will depend upon them after this year.

Remember, that "it is your club" and that you are needed to help make it grow and be better. We hope we can have a better representation at the next meeting, and that every one will be ready to participate in the work and promote the best interests of the whole Society.

Association Benefit Not Successful

As the financial straits of the Athletic Association are so bad that the basketball team was forced to pay their own way to the tournament, in order to get the cash they gave a benefit at the Eljot. For some strange and unforeseen reason this benefit was not patronized as it should have been and consequently no overwhelming profits were gained. But the story grows and Xenia came home with a good record but still without money. Again they decided that a benefit should be given. It was given on Wednesday and on account of the team's splendid record at Delaware the place was packed. That's what a reputation will do.

Alumni Notes

Robert Hurley class of '19 is making good with the Woolworth Company. He was called to Buffalo March 1 and given charge of a new store which they are opening in Endicott, New York. While he was in Central High he worked in the local store and has learned the business from the ground up.

The Woolworth Company has been pleased with his work through these years and has rewarded him with a splendid position and salary. We wish him abundant success in his work.

Robert Mendenhall class of '20 is seriously ill at his home near Xenia. His many friends can hardly realize that a boy of his splendid physical appearance could have his health so impaired. His fine record in Central made many friends for him who will watch his condition anxiously and hope for his recovery.

Allen Kestle a member of the class of '20, now a student at Delaware, was a booster for the Xenia team at the tournament and was present at all the games, helping to swell the noise of the rooters as they cheered the team to victory.

Paul Satterfield class of '19 was also a loyal supporter of the Central team and kept every one in a good humor with usual wit which never fails him.

Among the alumnae were Olive Huston and Dorothy Faulkner who added greatly to the Xenia contingent both by their yells and by their hospitality to the Xenia girls who were visiting Delaware.

Lois Benbow '20 was the guest of Olive Huston '18 during the week-end of the tournament.

VOTE OF THANKS TO MR. ECKERLE

Owing to the discontinuance of the Central Hi Review, as an independent paper, for at least a few weeks, we wish to thank Mr. Eckerle for his many kind helps, accommodations and helpful suggestions in the past career of the Review. Mr. Eckerle has given us much of his valuable time for our benefit and the entire High School wishes to thank him very sincerely.

In School

When I'm in school a studyin' And mindin' every rule My head it starts to thumpin' And I feel so very dull—

When I dream of goin' fishin' The teacher says "Now class! The parts of speech," I answer "Cat and perch and bass."

Then she says "Where's Egypt?" On my head I get a tap So I answer kinda dazed "I guess it's on the map."

Who discovered the Mississippi? Says teacher, "Willie you know." "Why-er yes" I answer blissfully "Twas Edgar Allen Poe."

"Twas Edgar Allen Poe." I get a reprimand, And seeking pity from folks at home Dad deals me a hotter hand.

KENEST KARNIVAL

On Tuesday, March 15th, the Seniors are going to stage the first Kenest, karnival in the history of the school. Here-to-fore there have been numerous and varied carnivals but the coming one is scheduled to supplant any fond memories of anticipation and exultation left by its predecessors.

Added charm is lent to the occasion by the strict selection with which the promised new features of the carnival are guarded.

An admission of ten cents only will be charged but it would be advisable to have an extra supply in your pockets.

Praise Given To Fine Work Of the Team

A rejoicing assembly was held Tuesday when everyone gave vent to their feeling and revealed in Xenia's high standing in the state tournament.

Mr. Pendry first acquainted his willing listeners with the fact that Capt. "Burr" LeSourd was chosen as one of the forwards on the all State second team, and that Paul Boxwell had been among those that were honorably mentioned. (When the news reached their ears, the jubilant "kide" just barely left the roof on the building. Then Mr. Pendry spoke of Xenia's wonderful showing at the tournament. He stated that they outshone nine-tenths of the other teams down there by their fine play-in.

Mr. Beacham added his praise of Xenia's illustrious team. One of the most interesting things that he said to the team was that even though they did not win the championship they would get their promised feed because of their splendid playing. So all the ple and cakes that they have been deprived of will be set gloriously in front of them as they may gorge to their heart's content.

Senior Scribblings

No one will ever be justly able to accuse the Seniors of not being able to keep a secret. For themselves, they would think there was going to be a four reel circus, the way the actors and actresses practice. The stunt committee works in the deaf and dumb language. And those in checkers were flustered and eyes sparkled with eagerness. A sudden gust of the rude March wind, which is no respecter of persons, caught the dainty spring bonnet and whirled it down the street until it seemed for a moment as if it were a flying saucer. Here a gallant youth rescued it and with graceful manner returned it to its owner. Alas! the car was moving, with all Betty's companions bound for the tournament in it, but for the class and the entire school, because he has not only won praise for himself, but for the class and the entire school. Success happiness and health ever be yours, "Captain Bill."

MAY CALL SPECIAL MEETING OF CITY COMMISSION, SOON

Although members of the city commission have been notified informally of the election of City Manager Kenyon Riddle as City Manager of Middletown, they have not considered the matter in session, nor have they taken any action as a body in regard to Mr. Riddle's subsequent resignation or the appointment of his successor.

As plenty of applications for the position of City Manager of Middletown were received without advertising for them, it is believed by members of the commission, that with the announcement of Mr. Riddle's resignation, there will be a number of candidates present themselves for the local position from whom a competent Manager can be selected.

"I am very glad to hear of Mr. Riddle's new position, if he is improving himself," said J. Throth Charters, president of the City Com-

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydro-chloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

mission Saturday afternoon, "I don't like to see Xenia lose him but as long as it is a move for the better for him, I wish him God Speed. Regarding his successor, I think we can find somebody to fill the bill without a great deal of trouble, although we have not taken any action on it as yet."

Dr. A. D. DeHaven, who is vice president of the Commission said: "I am glad to see him get the job. I am not glad to see him leave and I don't think that his departure is a good thing for the city just now, but I like to see him better himself."

"Mr. Riddle is a good man and I hate to see him go," said Commissioner C. S. Frazer. "However, since he is improving himself, I am glad he got the position. We have no one in mind as his successor yet. One man applied for the position as soon as he heard Mr. Riddle was an applicant for the Middletown position, though."

Commissioners Harry Fisher and Arthur Whalen could not be reached for an expression of their views.

NINE-TENTHS OF THE NATION WILL APPROVE THIS LONG DELAYED ACT OF JUSTICE.

President Harding in urging upon the Senate the ratification of the Colombian treaty has given the country another evidence of his resolute determination to pursue the course which he deems right and just, even though his recommendation may run counter to influential opinion in his own party or challenge the Senate leaders who are represented by his enemies as the dictators of his policy. The agreement with Colombia is an act of justice to a weak neighbor upon whom a great wrong was inflicted when President Roosevelt "took Panama."

Whatever wrongs there may have been on the Colombian side during the negotiations over the canal concession, however just may be the charge that the Cartagena Government sought to blackmail the United States by exacting a price and terms that were unreasonable, these things are no justification for the injury done to a weaker neighbor when by our own interposition by force we prevented her from asserting her own authority over one of her most valuable possessions.

If Panama had won independence by her own unaided endeavors, if United States troops and naval forces had taken no part in the revolt against Colombia, if there had been no indecent haste in the sealing of the canal compact with the three or four day old Republic of Panama, there might be legitimate ground for the opposition to a program that contemplates payment to Colombia for the loss she sustained.

It is a pity that the merits of the Colombian treaty question are complicated and clouded by sentimental considerations relating to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt. But it is a mistaken notion that the United States should refrain from doing justice merely because an act of reparation might be construed as a condemnation of our own previous policy. We did a wrong, and until that wrong is redressed and frankly confessed we shall deserve to have our sincerity called in question by our neighbors over whom we aspire to hold and keep the position of friend and protector.

WANTED—A NEW LEVER ACT.

There will be little surprise over the decision of the supreme court that the food and coal sections of the Lever act are unconstitutional. But there will be a very general regret that what seemed like the only curb to profiteering in these universally needed commodities has been removed.

The court based its opinion largely upon the indefiniteness of the sections of the bill under consideration. Chief Justice White remarked as an aside to his prepared opinion that the scope of these sections was apparently "as broad as human imagination" and that "the degree of criminality was left to ever-changing standards." His written opinion expressed the consensus of the court that these sections did not "constitute a fixing by congress of an ascertainable standard of guilty," and were not "adequate to inform the persons accused of violation thereof of the nature and cause of the accusations against them."

The result of the decision will be to nullify all indictments which have been secured or are being sought under these provisions to punish profiteers in food and coal, and will put an end to further prosecution under these sections of the act.

Since the Lever act has proved to be hasty war-time legislation, improperly thought out to make it continuously effective, it is better that it should go. It should be replaced, however, with more carefully drafted laws which will, if possible, keep the profiteer from continuing to prey upon the public as he has been doing.

THE KIND OF PAY OLD TIME EDITORS RECEIVED.

Hamilton Holt in the Independent (New York). What compensation comes to the editor in the practice of the profession so nobly sketched by Lowell other than the consciousness of duty well performed? In the old days the pecuniary results were somewhat meager. In 1775 Thomas Page was engaged by R. Aitken, as editor of the Pennsylvania Magazine at a salary of $25 a year. Sedgwick wrote of the editor of the old Atlantic Magazine, "His publishers are liberal gentlemen. They pay him $500 a year." When Bryant was editor of the New York Review and Athenaeum he wrote to Dana, "My salary is $1,000 no great sum to be sure, but it is twice what I get when I practice in the country." In 1857 The Atlantic Monthly paid Lowell a salary of $2,500 with an appropriation of $6 a page for contributions.

The salaries of editors of the old time dailies were on the same modest scale. Horace Greeley once said, "There may be such a thing as a $5,000 salary in the newspaper business, but the largest I personally know of is $3,000." Charles Hopkins Clark says that he knows of salaries today that are double this figure and he truly adds, "I think that all men familiar with newspaper work will bear me out, no other business pays so little for so much work and so much talent as the newspaper does."

There are so many conflicting reports out of Russia, relative to the revolution now in progress, that we are tempted to believe that Kerensky may be staging a comeback.

It would appear that the Germans, who are still singing, "Deutschland Uber Alles," have an exaggerated sense of proportion.

We have been for some time at a loss to know how the term "flapper," as applied to a young girl originated, until we consulted the dictionary and found this definition, "a young game bird, not yet able to fly well."

Sure signs of spring—all the members of the fair sex are either buying, renovating or making early season headgear.

Judging by the reports we hear of the modern dances, the French corset manufacturers who are raising a fund of $100,000 to start a campaign to popularize their product, are throwing good money after the bad.

The modern school girl seems to be more interested in a basketball than in her mother's market basket.

The ladies of the circle for the purveying of gossip came near to angry words recently, when someone introduced the topic, of whether skirts, this year were shorter than they should be, one side lining up with the reformers and the other with the physicians.

NOT EXACTLY THE PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT TO GAIN OUR SYMPATHY.

The North King Street fountain which was donated the city some time ago by the late John Little and Judge Munger met with a mishap today. A couple of men on a load of hay failed to turn out sufficiently and the bowl and the upper part of the fountain was caught by the wagon and thrown down.

The city council held a called meeting last night for the purpose of extending the time to the Citizens Telephone Company, for completing its system in this city. In the franchise as originally granted the company was given six months but additional time was found necessary.

Tom Raxworthy the stone carver who is doing all the ornamental work in stone for the new court house is about to begin cutting griffins or winged lions one of which will be placed at each side of the Detroit Street entrances.

Three Greene County boys enlisted for service in the United States army a few days ago. They are Frank Weiss of the Lower Bellbrook pike, Harry Barnett of the Upper Bellbrook pike and Ora Leach of Goes. The boys enlisted in Dayton and were sworn in and donned the blue and were given leave to come home for a few days.

The Week With Ohio Solons

Columbus, March 12.—With program of the Legislative Reorganization Committee almost completed it is hardly likely that Democratic threats of a referendum will deter the efforts of the General Assembly in an effort to give to the state some sort of administrative code which will tend less toward politics and more toward business.

Attention is called by Senator Whittemore and others who have been untiring in their efforts to bring about a practical solution of the management of the business affairs of the state, that with the present array of boards and commissions, the promised economy of the last two Democratic administrations has failed to materialize and at the present rate of expenditure there can be no hope for a reduction in state expense.

There is some opposition to the plan which will be submitted—providing for a bureau of ten commissions, but it is hoped by those who have worked hard to group the different departments for better administration and less expense, but differences may be ironed out as the bill is considered and that in the final analysis Ohio's Administrative Code will be as near perfection as that of any other state.

Recognition early in his administration by President Harding, of the worth of Charles E. Hard, of Portsmouth, meets with general approval among Republicans. Mr. Hard has long been a leader in Republican affairs of Southern Ohio and was postmaster of Portsmouth for a number of years. For the last few years Mr. Hard has been secretary of the Republican State Advisory Committee and in that capacity had general supervision of the publicity of that committee. During the reelection campaign Mr. Hard was employed in a confidential capacity in Marion and it is in such a capacity that he becomes attached to the official family of President Harding.

Another appointment which meets with the approval of a large circle of friends is that of George B. Christian, Jr., to be Secretary to the President. During the six years Mr. Harding was in the senate Mr. Christian was an almost constant companion, as well as secretary. Men of large affairs have come to look upon him as an ideal man for the secretarial position. He is keen, alert, always courteous and possesses an exceptional memory for names and faces. With all he knows Ohio and Ohioans and in the position of secretary will be able to bring to the attention of President Harding the claims of Ohio people no matter how humble.

The appointment of Harry M. Daugherty as Attorney General is met with universal approval in his home state. Even former political enemies have approved because of the stuff they know the new Attorney

General to be made of. Almost without exception the first statement heard in the capital concerning the Daugherty appointment has been: "They'll not put anything over on Harry."

With thousands of claims against the government for war contracts, some just and many unjust, it is proper that there be a man in the office of Attorney General who will see that nothing is "put over."

The elevation of Mr. Daugherty was without his seeking and financially it is a loss to him. In private practice he would have reaped the benefit of large acquaintance. He made a sacrifice as he did in the primary, of time, money and eminent private legal position, to "stay with the ship." It is characteristic of the man.

The public election bill, revising and codifying the election laws, is ready for consideration in the Assembly. It was drafted by George Schauf, of Canton, known widely as an election expert, Senator Norwood, Representative Graham and assisted by L. D. Johnson, statistician in the office of the Secretary of State. There are a number of changes, the high spots being as follows:

One registration, which shall be sufficient for all time unless the voter removes or fails to vote for two elections. In case of removal, a transfer must be had. Failure to vote in two elections necessitates re-registration. This feature will save thousands of dollars.

When a man or woman registers, the party affiliation must be given. This will prevent voters of one party voting on the primary of the other as has been charged in previous years, especially when one party had no contest.

Each county has a card index of the voters and many candidates for office may have a copy by paying the sum of $1 per thousand names.

There is no cut in the membership of the board of elections and the same manner of selecting members of the board of elections prevails as at present.

Any voter may register at the office of the board of elections, city or township clerk. These last are designated so that the farmer or rural voter may register when convenient. Clerks are designated election officials.

No additional power is placed in the hands of the secretary of State under the reorganization.

This is a Republican measure, framed by Republicans and the saving which will be incurred will rebound to the credit of the present Republican administration.

The folk returning from the inauguration at Washington, are filled with "pep" and enthusiasm over the launching of the new administration. They report that comments of those from every section of the country were to the effect that the address of Mr.

Is It Yours?

This is the Birthday of GEORGE BERKELEY March 12, 1855

George Berkeley, Irish Bishop and Philosopher, was born in Ireland, in 1685. He went to Trinity College, Dublin, when he was 15 years old, where because of the peculiar development of his mind, he refused to accept any teaching until he had proved it to be true, an attitude that made some regard him as a dunce and others as a genius.

He developed an enormous interest in philosophy, so much so that he published two such high sounding works as "A New Theory of Vision" and "Principals of Human Knowledge," when he was 22 years old. The particular philosophy he believed in is shown in his "Common Place Book," one of the most amazing autobiographies in existence, a book in which Berkeley totted down, from time to time, the ideas that came to him and the principals he was working out.

From the time he was 22 he was a college tutor. He paid a short visit to England and met Jonathan Swift who presented him at Court. His charming personality made him an immediate favorite, in fact one woman who had met him only once at dinner was so impressed by him that many years afterwards when she died she left him half her fortune.

Berkeley married when he was 45 and sailed with his wife to the Bermudas where he hoped to establish an English college, mostly for the benefit of Americans. His plan never went through. He returned to England and to Oxford and died there when he was 68 years old.

His plan for his college, as he expressed it, was to have a means of education for the "savage Americans"—his biographer did not state whether he meant the Indians over here, or the Colonial settlers.

Harding, breathing the spirit of good will and peace and his stirring note urging all classes of people to get down to hard work and back to sane thinking will be of great value to the country in restoring confidence and bringing it back to normalcy.

As time for his consideration approaches, the bill of Representative C. Gilbert Taylor, of Norwalk providing for the showing of Sunday pictures, under certain restrictions, is attracting attention of many, especially labor. The latter spokesmen are favoring the bill because of the unemployment and general unrest in certain parts of the state. They are demanding properly censored motion pictures as a means of recreation for those who labor and in the arguments put forth call attention that properly censored motion pictures are much more to be desired as a Sunday afternoon diversion than the soft drink emporium or the billiard hall.

COMPERS ATTACKS DETECTIVE AGENCIES

Boston, March 11.—Fully eighty per cent of the activities of private detective agencies is in fomenting labor troubles, declared Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor today. "These detective agencies are hired by employers of labor to foment trouble among their workers and lead them to make demands that are unreasonable and fail in their purpose giving labor another black eye."

Congress should investigate this, urged the veteran labor leader. "Organized labor will resist by every lawful means within its power attempts to reduce wages," he told interviewers.

THE DISCORD.

Though grateful people may rejoice at blessings they possess, you'll always hear a plaintive voice proclaiming bleak distress. The most of us are cheery guys who brandish pleasant grins; we don't send up our doleful cries until we bark our shins. We know this world's a good old joint in which to spend our years, and so don't linger to anoint the velvet with useless tears. A better world we could not wish, life is its own reward; but there is always some poor fish who hits a minor chord. And while we sing of azure skies and blue and silver seas, he jars us with discordant cries of crape and soup and cheese. We travel on a sunlit track and play the life and drum, but he has read the almanac, and knows that storms will come. We see the bride and bridegroom pass, and boost their wedding rags; but he is sure that flesh is grass and brides will be old hags. We sing of hope and happy days, and dance upon the sward; but always there are dreary jays who hit the minor chord.

REDUCTION SUGGESTIONS

Reduction has long since ceased to be a matter of haphazard guess work. It has become a matter of science and a great many doctors have made fortunes out of it.

There is also a great deal of nonsense on the subject of dieting and there is a great deal of nonsense that is practiced as a means of reduction. Any woman who will take the time and trouble to read up a little bit on this subject can soon distinguish the good advice from the bad. For after all the best rule to go by is the rule of common sense.

There is one excellent rule to remember and that is eat the right foods in the right quantities. If you have a tendency towards fleshiness, don't eat so many sweets, until you have reduced to your normal weight. The rule, of course works both ways. That is if you are thin eat more fats and starches but use your common sense in either case. For you must take in some fat even when you are thinning foods and if you are thin you can not eat too much without getting indigestion. But it is quite possible to eat just the right foods in the right quantities and to acquire the right weight and the process of so doing is not very complicated.

If you are too fat don't sleep too much and don't indulge in occasional naps. Don't over-eat and don't drink with your meals. Above all don't ride when you can possibly walk. Every fat person should exercise and few fat people want to. The easiest method of exercising is to walk, that is why I advise walking whenever possible for any person who is over-weight.

Jerry—A girl of 17 years old, five feet tall, should weigh 113 pounds. You are over-weight, you are probably over-eating, and if you reduce, the pimples you complain of will disappear.

Helen H. — Eating oranges is splendid for the complexion, because oranges contain beneficial acid and clear the system.

J. K. — If your rings turn your fingers green, my first guess would be that they are not solid gold. Possibly they are what is known as gold-filled and have worn down to the metal inside the filling. Of course, it is just possible that your system possesses a great deal of acid, so that your skin is affected by metal. I have heard of such cases occasionally before.

Ruth B. — I would advise you to use liquid face powder, because this is very drying to the complexion. If you keep your skin in healthy condition you can use plain rice powder on it which is perfectly harmless.

Blue Eyes:—From time to time articles on curing pimples appear in this space. If you have not seen any recently, send me a letter with a self-addressed stamped envelope enclosed for directions on taking care of the skin.

INTER-RACIAL GAME HERE IS CANCELLED

The third game of the city championship series between the Xenia Athletics, the colored team, and the Shamrocks, which was to have been played at the Rink Monday, has been called off, it was announced Saturday morning.

It was felt that it is best to postpone the game for at least a week or two. Each team now has a game apiece.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Eruptions of the Skin Cause Tortuous Itching

If you are afflicted with any form of skin disorder, you are well acquainted with the flaming, burning itching that these diseases produce.

Skin diseases are caused by an impurity or disorder in the blood, and there is no real and genuine relief within your reach until such impurities are removed.

S. S. S. has given great satisfaction in the treatment of these disorders, because it is such a thoroughly satisfactory blood purifier. It cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus counteracts the effects of the germs that attack the skin.

are costly, and in most cases can be avoided. They are chiefly brought about by parts nearly worn out and if they had been attended to at the proper time they would not have broken.

Spring is practically here, plowing and farm work in general will open up all of a sudden and then is when these neglected parts will start in lowering your profits. Have them repaired now.

MARKETS

Stocks

The effect of such further complications with Germany as may arise upon the future market is problematical. The occupation of three German cities caused no disturbance of values, probably because traders felt that occupation of new territory would not appreciably alter the situation. Exchange maintained its poise. It will be remembered that the market paid slight attention to the French advance last April. Should active resistance to Allied occupation develop, a stampede might occur. Harding's inaugural speech received favorable comment but failed to influence the course of prices. The dullness and irregularity which characterized the February market continued through recent inactivity is like to continue for some time. The market, and business generally, awaits constructive action. Mere assurance count for little.

Grain

Price fluctuations of erratic character in the grain market give no positive clew as to the future trend of prices. The government report on farm reserves encouraged wheat bulls, but lent slight encouragement to bulls on corn and oats. News from abroad affected prices oppositely as export prospects brightened and declined. Crop and weather reports will figure largely in traders' calculations; henceforth Export business continues in moderate volume. The advent of the new administration was construed as a bullish influence, suggesting improvement in business conditions. Farmers have little time to haul and receipts are light in consequence. Seeding of oats and plowing for corn are in progress.

Livestock

The character of reports from the livestock market as March began differed widely from late January news. Prices in late January were unduly low and the market pretty much demoralized. Dressed meat and consumption has increased. Otherwise the upturn in late February would not have continued into the new month. Prices were highest of the year and every branch of the trade showed strength and temporary optimism. The improved demand for stocker cattle and feeding lambs was a natural result. The improved condition gave some evidence of permanency. The heavy winter run of hogs, for example is over.

Cotton

The Allied occupation of German territory bore down on cotton as suggesting a sharp restriction of exports. The steadiness of exchange was a reassuring factor. Cotton has suffered a sensational decline within the past year and is selling lower than at this time eight years ago. Seemingly bottom is near. Estimates put the reduction in cotton in Texas at 27 per cent or a total of 3,139,000 acres. Various trade bodies in South Carolina are urging a reducing of at least 50 per cent. Field work in preparation for the new crop is still backward despite favorable weather. On the other hand the large carryover and world conditions preclude an extended upward movement. Mill demand is spasmodic rather than active.

Wool

The wool market, is marking time. Advances for the goods trade show an improved tone although trade is far from normal. The president's veto of the Perdyne tariff bill halted such activity as had developed. Growers will now await their next chance to push a protective tariff on wool through congress. Harding has pledged the Republican party to revision of the tariff upward and wool is sure to participate even though final action may not come before midsummer. Foreign wool has been arriving in large quantities during the past month and a glut of wool undoubtedly exists. Arrivals of foreign wool at Boston during February were 38,718,000 pounds as against 13,726,000 last year. Arrivals of foreign wool at Boston thus far this year are eight times the arrivals of domestic wool.

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

Grafton, Pa.—"I was troubled with inflammation and pains in my sides and back. After doctoring with different doctors and not getting relief, I had almost given up hopes when my sister told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and knowing that she had really been helped by it, I purchased it. I was unable to do my work at that time, but after taking several bottles of the Vegetable Compound I can now do anything about the house or farm that a woman should do. I have a four months old baby that is the healthiest and biggest baby for his age that I have ever seen. I am willing for my letter to be used for a testimonial to tell other suffering women how much your medicine has done for me, as I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the praise."—Mrs. E. L. FISHER, R.D. 1, Box 27, Grafton, Pa.

Working early and late—lifting, carrying, and the heaviest of household duties—is it any wonder that it results in backaches and kindred ills. But every woman who suffers as Mrs. Fisher did should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

TESTED RECIPES

Goulash.—Brown one cup chopped, left-over meat with a medium sized onion in drippings. Add one cup of canned tomatoes, and two cups of cooked macaroni. Season and brown in oven. This is a most satisfying and savory dish.

Salad (jellied tomato).—Add one cup of strained canned tomato, one teaspoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon sugar (scalding) to one-half envelope gelatin moistened in one-quarter cup of cold water. Chill in rounding moulds that will make forms resembling tomatoes when turned out. Stick into top several small celery leaves, and put a ring of heavy mayonnaise around it. Light but nutritious.

Cranberry Conserve.—Boil two cups cranberries, two cups water, two cups sugar, rind of one orange, until latter is tender, add pulp of one orange, one cup raisins. Boil ten minutes, add one-half cup chopped nuts, and bring again to boil.

Harding promises the re-institution of the traditional Republican protective tariff. The farmers may hope to benefit. Pending the enactment of a permanent tariff bill which may require months, industry and agriculture alike will suffer from uncertainty. The manufacturer will have no basis of calculation in the purchase of raw materials nor the farmer in estimating the next season's acreage. The tariff hearings thus far have permitted the interchange of ideas but have led to no agreement. As to the importance of the tariff as a producer of revenue, estimates suggest that even with revision upward it can be relied upon to yield no more than 15 or 20 per cents of the total revenue required.

BURGLAR'S APPETITE RESULTS IN CAPTURE

Dayton, Ohio, March 12.—Dayton's "hungry burglar" is on trial. If convicted he will get life for burglarizing inhabited dwellings at night. His name is Bradley Smith, alias James Jackson, colored. It is said he robbed more than a dozen houses. Each night while out at "work" he would take time in a house to eat a meal from the icebox or cupboard. He tarried too long at a midnight lunch and was caught.

THE WOMAN HE MARRIED

NAN AND JUANITA DISCUSS MARRIAGE

Chapter 113.
Dick had written an ambitious story, that was what he called it. It was longer, the theme more serious than any he had yet sent to a publisher. He had written it either locked in his study, or when I sat with him quietly mending, or designing motifs for my decorative work. Not once had Juanita entered the study when he was working upon it, although she came over frequently. Always I told her Dick could not be disturbed, and often he would unconsciously bear me out by coming into the living room or on the porch for a moment and then excusing himself. "Can't I help, Dick?" she asked one day, annoyed I think because of being shut out.

"No, thank you, Juanita, I am going alone this time. Perhaps the next thing I write I will need you." The look he gave her went far to spoil any pleasure I may have had sensed in his refusal to allow her to assist him. He was still enamored of her even if not so completely as before. At times my heart failed me—times like these when I saw he was still influenced by his feeling for her. Then I would wonder if it was worth while? If the unwilling faith and loyalty of any man was worth the effort I was making? Then my love would surge over me, and I would be willing to do anything, suffer anything, if only I could win back his love.

Not that Dick was ever actively unkind, he wasn't. But his indifference hurt me cruelly. Often he seemed unaware of my existence; and he had entirely stopped using any loving words or giving me the caresses he used to lavish upon me. To be sure, he kissed me occasionally when I went out in the morning to be gone all day, but I doubt if he would have done even that had I not shown I expected it.

And I knew the reason. It was not Dick's nature to be hypocritical. He gave his caresses, his kisses, to Juanita—he would not give them to two women. One day Juanita said to me: "I suppose the purpose of our lives is to get all the happiness out of congenial companionship wherever we can find it. That is why marriage is so often a mistake."

Until then Juanita never had expressed such sentiments. "Is marriage so often a mistake?" I asked after a bit. "Naturally the first wild thrill passes, but isn't there a something tomes in its stead, something more stable?" "But is any man satisfied with what you call 'something more stable'?" "Yes, I think so," I finally replied. "Take Dick now—he is temperamental, fond of anyone or anything which interests him. But it doesn't last. He always tells me of his feeling for this one and that one, even though he appears to be fond of them."

"You mean—that he tells you what he does? Always?" "Not only what he does, but what he says and thinks," I exaggerated. The peculiar light in Juanita's eyes told me I had hit her in some way. I had meant to, and was delighted. So I went on.

"Of course, Juanita, I couldn't talk to everyone like this, but you and Dick have been so chummy that I feel I can say anything to you and that you will understand. Especially as you and I have been equally as chummy."

"He is horribly disappointed that our book wasn't a success," she changed the subject. "Yes, you see you and he weren't fitted to work together, or he would have perceived the discrepancies in your ideas. Naturally he was disappointed. But he has pulled himself together and we must help him all we can."

"Help him—how?" "By leaving him undisturbed. He hates to tell you himself, Juanita, for fear you will feel hurt, so he leaves it to me. I know you are far too sensible to feel offended if he refuses to leave the study when you come over."

"Oh, certainly! I am sure I don't want to intrude." "I knew you would feel like that," I replied, and a little while afterward I told Dick that Juanita said she didn't expect him to leave his work when she came. Then I added: "I guess now that she sees she isn't liable to get anything out of your friendship she is tiring." I knew Dick so well I was positive nothing I said would be repeated. He might be indignant, but so long as we lived together, his pride would prevent him from discussing me with Juanita.
